

Mrs. R. E. Leary Honored By Edenton BPW Club As Woman Of Year For 1963

Very Delightful Program Held Thursday Night at Center Hill Community Building

Edenton's Business and Professional Woman's Club held its annual Bosses' Night banquet Thursday night at the Center Hill Home Demonstration Club's Community Building with a large number in attendance. A delicious turkey dinner was served by the Home Demonstration Club members.

Miss Pauline Calloway, president of the club, presided and after the dinner called upon Mrs. Maye Belle Wooten to serve as mistress of ceremony. The meeting opened with the Club Collect being sung by a quartet composed of Miss Catherine Aman, Mrs. Artie Ange, Mrs. Betty Cox and Miss Fran McCaskill, accompanied at the piano by Miss Cecelia Willoughby. The invocation was by the Rev. E. C. Shoaf, pastor of the Edenton Methodist Church.

Mrs. Wooten extended a warm welcome to those who were present and Mack Rogerson gave the response.

Special music, including familiar and popular numbers of the gay nineties, were sung by J. P. Snipes, principal of Chowan High School, who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Snipes.

Mrs. Julia Hassell introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. R. E. Leary. Continued on Page 7, Section 1

Green Beautification Project Is Presented To Commissioners

The presentation of the beautification of the Chowan County Court House Green was made Friday morning to the Chowan County Commissioners by the Edenton Woman's Club. At a ceremony on the newly completed green, Mrs. George A. Byrum, club president, presented a scroll to Commissioner J. Clarence Leary and expressed appreciation to the Commissioners for permitting the Woman's Club to carry out this project.

After an invocation by Mrs. Leary, the beautification project was presented to the Commissioners. Continued on Page 3, Section 1

March 15 Deadline For Releasing '64 Cotton Allotment

March 1 Is Deadline To Make a Request For Additional Cotton Acreage

Attention is called to Chowan County cotton farmers of the requirement to plant or release 75 per cent of their 1964 cotton allotment or be penalized by a reduction of their cotton allotment.

If any cotton farmer does not plant to plant his allotment, he should release the acreage to the local ASC Committee, so that it can be allotted to other farmers who desire to plant more cotton than their allotment allows. By releasing their 1964 allotment, a cotton farmer will not lose his allotment and at the same time it will help to protect the county and state allotment.

The final date to release 1964 allotments is March 15. Then, too, any farmers who desire to plant additional cotton acreage must register their request at the local ASCS office before March 1st.

Hospital Nursing Home To Be Opened By First Part Of June

The Chowan Hospital Auxiliary is approaching the popularity of a few years back when members used to gather at the old hospital out at the Marine base. The Parish House is proving to be a very convenient meeting place and where else can one gather with friends, hear an interesting program and have a cup of tea at no cost whatever? The sole purpose of the Auxiliary is to support the hospital, and the Auxiliary has been the contributor of some valuable equipment over the years. Funds are raised through the membership drives, memorial fund, pencil sales at election time and projects such as the play which is now in rehearsals.

At a meeting Friday afternoon Mrs. Jack Leary, president, called the meeting to order and W. P. Jones, hospital administrator, reported that the gas machine for the labor room has been ordered and that the nursing home is being planned. Continued on Page 3—Section 1

Stationed In Front of Betty Shoppes; Exhibit Includes Painting Owned By Mrs. John Gilliam Wood

The Mobile Museum of History, North Carolina's only traveling museum, will be on display in Edenton from Friday, March 6, through Monday, March 9, it is announced by West Byrum, chairman of the Mobile Museum visit. Featuring an exhibition of life in North Carolina during the first 100 years of the colony, the museum is part of the program of the State Department of Archives and History's Museum Division. The exhibit will include 28 works of Jacob Marling, a painter who worked in the state during the early days of the last century. The tribute to Marling will be the first to an artist no longer living. State artists previously honored were Francis Speight, a native of Bertie County, Josef Albers, former teacher at Black Mountain College and Hobson Pittman of Tarboro. In addition to works by Marling, the show will also include a few paintings by artists of the same period and location to provide a more comprehensive survey of the art of the particular time and place. Generally, the paintings will show prominent North Carolinians of the 19th century, although the show will also include what is considered Marling's finest work. Continued on Page 4—Section 1

B. Warner Evans Seeks Re-election

B. Warner Evans early this week announced that he will be a candidate for re-election as Chowan County Representative in the North Carolina General Assembly in the May Democratic primary election.

Mr. Evans has served the county for one term and is of the opinion that with this experience he will be able to better serve the county. He was a member of 14 committees in the House of Representatives in the last session of the General Assembly.

He expressed his appreciation for the support given him in the last election and solicits the vote and support of Chowan County voters in the next election.
