

Local Manufacturers To Be C. of C. Banquet Guests For Appreciation Week

Affair to Be Held at Country Club Tuesday Night, May 19 at 7 O'clock; Hunter A. Poole Speaker

Highlight of Industry Appreciation Week in Chowan County will be a banquet sponsored by the Edenton Chamber of Commerce with local manufacturers as guests. The banquet will be held at the Chowan Golf and Country Club Tuesday night, May 19, at 7 o'clock.

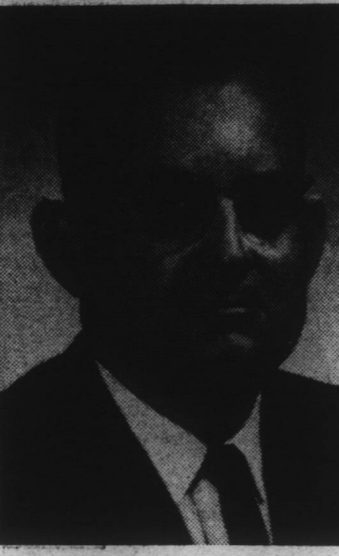

President West W. Byrum has obtained as guest speaker for the occasion Hunter A. Poole, a 6-year veteran industry hunter with the Commerce and Industry Division of the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development. Mr. Poole has been instrumental in helping locate numerous industries throughout North Carolina as an industrial representative. Mr. Poole is a native of Wake County, graduated from the North Carolina State College's Department of Industrial Engineering in 1953 with a Bachelor of Science Degree. Before joining the C. & D. Department Mr. Poole was in charge of production control for a Virginia furniture plant. Not incidentally, Mr. Poole was instrumental in bringing a new branch plant to Edenton for the George C. Moore Company of Westerly, Rhode Island.

Tickets for the Chamber's Industry Appreciation banquet may be obtained from George Lewis at Peoples Bank or from Joe Conger, Jr., W. J. P. Earnhardt, Sr., West W. Byrum or at the Chamber office. Tickets are $2.00 each and cover the cocktail hour which begins at 6:15 P. M. The refreshments are being provided through the courtesy of individual Edenton businessmen.

20 Years Ago

As Found In The Files Of The Chowan Herald

Major Marion B. Dryden, head of the Marine Women's Reserve, spent three days at the Edenton Air Station and expressed pleasure with the work being done by the women.

John A. Holmes was elected governor of the 189th Rotary District on the first ballot at Edenton.

"Reminiscences" 1864 - 1964

Editor's Note: May 5 of this year was the 100th anniversary of the Battle of the Albemarle and The Herald expresses its appreciation of an account of the battle furnished by Mrs. Fred Brane and Granberry Tucker. The account, "Reminiscences" was written by Miss "Hibbie" Moore in 1925 and may be of interest to Herald readers because of kinship and friendship with Miss Moore.

A century ago, on May 5, 1864, the Confederate iron-clad ram "Albemarle" under the command of Captain Cooke, moved down the Roanoke River from its mooring at Plymouth to engage the federal squadron of seven well-armed gunboats in the Albemarle Sound off Sandy Point.

The story was graphically written in a manuscript entitled "Reminiscences," dated May 15, 1925, by Miss Mary Elizabeth Moore, familiarly known as "Miss Hibbie" to her many friends and relatives in Edenton and Chowan County. She was the daughter of Judge Augustus M. Moore, whose name, with others, is memorialized on a plaque in the Chowan County Court House. Her manuscript was inspired by her great interest in the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and is now in the possession of her great-niece, Miss Elizabeth Moore of Edenton.

"Miss Hibbie" spent her earlier years at the Skinner plantation called "Poplar Neck" near Edenton on the road to the present Albemarle Sound bridge, and later lived in Edenton in what is now called the "Penelope Barker House," which was moved down Broad Street to its foot on Edenton Bay. "Poplar Neck" is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Benbury Wood.

Special Recognition Planned For Chowan County Industries During Industry Appreciation Week

By JACKIE RICKS

Special tribute will be paid to all Chowan County industries next week during Industry Appreciation Week, sponsored by the Edenton Chamber of Commerce. A highlight of the week will be a banquet Tuesday night at 7 o'clock at the Chowan Golf and Country Club.

In addition to honoring the old industries, which have so long contributed so much to the economy and welfare of the county, the building of two new industries gives added emphasis to the meaning this year of industry in Chowan County.

Edenton's newest industry, the George C. Moore Company, is a textile related industry to Edenton's oldest industry, the Edenton Cotton Mill.

The George C. Moore Company, now under construction and expected to be in operation in September, will employ about 100 persons. They will manufacture narrow and wide woven elastic braid and power net for undergarments.

Also due to be in operation in September is United Piece Dye Works being constructed in the county on the Chowan River. When in operation it will employ about 250 men to handle custom dye work on stretch fabrics.

Edenton's oldest industry, the Edenton Cotton Mill, founded in 1898, operates 24 hours on three shifts and employs the most people of any existing industry. Yarn made by the mill is dis-
