Rules Tightened At Chowan Hospital

will be given to this. It seems that the biggest trouble is not from the families in most cases, but from the casual visitors who feel it is their duty to visit their friends and acquaintances whenever they are in the hospital. It has been definitely established that due to the many visitors, the patients do not go home as soon as they should.

The visiting hours are: Morning, 10 to 11 o'clock; afternoon, 2 to 4 o'clock; evening, 7 to 8 o'clock.

No children under 12 years old are permitted to visit at any time. In no case will a patient be able to have more than two visitors at a time. Anything other than that will be prescribed by the attending physician.

It is now being announced by the local radio station and The Chowan Herald every day of patients being discharged so they can be visited by friends when they go home.

The doctors have said that the patients will get well quicker and appreciate visitors more when they are well enough to go home, and it will definitely be more beneficial to the health of the patient.

Those at the hospital sincerely request the cooperation of all who visit the hospital.

The nod of Spirit is nature's natal. —Mary Baker Eddy.

Fire Prevention Week Oct. 4-10

in 1963 rose to a new high of $1,405,583,000, an increase of 11.1% over the preceding year, Mr. Vincent said.

"The rising trend is a challenge which we must face realistically," he added.

"Fire prevention efforts over the years have been paying rich dividends. The growth rate of the country's national wealth subject to destruction from fire has been one and one-half times the rate of increase in fire losses since the end of World War II.

"Still the tragic toll in loss of lives and property from fire is appalling. There is room for betterment in all fire prevention efforts. Three out of every four fires are the result of carelessness—these should never have occurred.

"What are the principal causes of fires? Well, nearly one-fourth of them are caused by matches and smoking, another fifth are of electrical origin, and one-tenth began in a defective heating plant.

"Care with matches and smoking can help hold down fire losses. Keeping electrical equipment in good working order can also aid, and at least once a year, every home should have its heating plant checked by a qualified serviceman."
