

Edenton Aces Scheduled To Play West Carteret In First Regional Game

Two Teams Will Meet
In Greenville Stadium
Friday Night at 8 O'clock

Edenton's Aces tangled with West Carteret High School at 8 o'clock Friday night in the first round of regional grid playoffs. The game will be played at Ficklin Stadium in Greenville.

West Carteret captured the Coastal 2-A Conference crown last week with an impressive 27-0 win over Beaufort.

Edenton is considered the favorite in this contest, having compiled a 9-0-1 record in winning the Albemarle Conference championship. The Aces were undefeated in regular season play, but had a tie, 14-14, with Elizabeth City. Elizabeth City is a 3-A club.

Should Coach Jerry McGee's eleven win over West Carteret, they will play the winner of the Cary-Charles B. Aycock game for the Eastern North Carolina championship. And that is a crown the Aces would like to put on the shelf.

The Aces had an open date last week and Coach McGee has been gearing his squad for the championship games. Reports from Hicks Field are that the locals will be in excellent shape for the game Friday.

11 Edenton Aces Recognized On All Conference Team

Five Chosen on First Team; Two on Second
Team; Four Get
Honorable Mention

Eleven members of the 1964 Edenton Aces' squad have been named to All-Albemarle Conference honors—five of them to the first team.

Two local griders were chosen for the second team and four more made honorable mention.

The five first team members include Hiram Mayo, Jr., and David Holton, backs; Phil Harrell, end, and Charlie Overton and Perry Byrum, linemen. All are seniors at John A. Holmes High School.

Wesley Chesson, a sophomore, was named to the second team backfield while Durrell Ambrose, a senior, was chosen as a lineman on the second squad.

Honorable mention honors were given to four players. Continued on Page 5, Section 1

Mystery Merchants Are Identified In First Week Of Fun Contest

Mrs. E. R. Wilson, Route 3, Edenton, is the first grand prize winner in the "Mystery Merchant" contest being sponsored by 19 local merchants. Mrs. Wilson, who registered at Cuthrell's Department store, wins $57 in gift certificates.

Also, the three silhouettes printed in last week's paper have been identified. They are Britton Byrum of Colonial Motor Company, Ed Taylor of Bridge-Turn Ezzo Servicenter and Henry Quinn of P & Q Super Market. These merchants last Saturday gave gift certificates to the first three persons identifying them.

Three more silhouettes appear in The Herald this week. Identifying them can win you free gift certificates.

Registration for the second grand prize, another $57 in gift certificates, has already begun and the winner will be announced in The Herald next week.

Herald Published Early Next Week

The Chowan Herald will publish early next week in order to give our employees a Thanksgiving holiday. All advertising and news copy must, therefore, be submitted on Monday.

United Piece Dye Works Hangs Up New Sales Record

New Plant at Edenton
Expected to Increase
Capacity By at Least
One-fifth

The United Piece Dye Works, one of the largest independent textile dyers and finishers, reported record sales and record pre-tax earnings for the nine months ended September 30, 1964, according to a report released by Charles Blount, Jr., president.

Sales of $13,354,621 were up 10 1/2% from $12,087,257 in the corresponding period in 1963. Pre-tax earnings of $1,687,903 were up from $1,614,162.

Earnings after taxes amounted to $918,953 versus $1,200,407 a year ago. The report points out that taxes were provided at the full rate in 1964, totaling $768,950, compared to only $413,755 in 1963 when a loss carry forward from years prior to 1960 reduced tax liability.

He said that a new plant just finished at Edenton would increase overall capacity by one-fifth and "relieve the heavy load now building up in our other plants and at the same time afford greater diversity of services to our customers."

Pauline Calloway Honored In Washington, D. C., Nov. 14-18

Miss Pauline Calloway was one of the four Home Economics Agents who received distinguished service awards at the meeting of the National Home Demonstration Agents Association in Washington, D. C., November 14-18. The other agents are Miss Fleta Harrelson, Elizabethtown, Mrs. Dorothy Wilkinson, Oxford, and Mrs. Sallie Ward, Lexington.

Miss Calloway has been home economics agent in Chowan County since 1959 and has developed special skills in restoration and refinishing furniture. Workshops have been conducted for homemakers in housing and house furnishings, clothing construction, hat making, tailoring, and other areas.

She is president-elect of the Eastern District Home Economics Agents Association and has served as chairman of committees in the district and other organizations. At present she is eastern area vice president of the Progress Being Made For Post Office Improvements

Progress continues to be made on the spacious addition to the U. S. Post Office building on Broad Street. Shown here is a big crane pounding away on pilings driven at the site. Contractors report work on the $210,000 project is moving along according to schedule. When the addition is completed it will give Edenton a modern Post Office structure with sufficient space to provide adequate mail service for this area for many years to come.

Shoplifting Becoming Reason For Much Concern In Edenton

Shoplifting in Edenton is becoming big business. And merchants are taking steps to curb the actions of people who take thousands of dollars from the area each year.

Police Chief James Griffin told a group of merchants at an early morning meeting recently that the shoplifting here, per capita, would rank with that in towns the size of Greensboro and larger.

The chief explained the best methods of handling the problem and pledged the full cooperation of the Police Department with merchants in curbing this crime.

"Shoplifting is now a criminal offense in North Carolina," the chief said. "The penalty for violation of this statute is $50 fine or 30 days in jail."

Chief Griffin advised the merchants to call police when they suspect someone of shoplifting and his department will take the proper action. "We can only work in this field with your help," he added.

The chief said Edenton is fortunate in having a good juvenile judge to handle cases where underage persons are apprehended for shoplifting offenses.

Alton G. Elmore, manager of Belk-Tyler's store, arranged for a film on shoplifting which was shown to interested merchants at the Taylor Theatre. The film illustrated various methods used to acquire different items.

"Arsenic And Old Lace" Enjoyed By Large Audiences

Local Group Highly Praised For Talent
Shown In Two Performances

About three months of constant rehearsal, memorization and hard work, resulted in an outstanding success for the first official presentation of the Edenton Little Theatre.

The play, "Arsenic and Old Lace," was thoroughly enjoyed by an audience of almost 600 last Thursday and Saturday nights. The audiences both nights broke out in resounding applause at the conclusion of the show and during the show in happy appreciation of the talents of Fran McCaskill, Katherine Aman, Charles Overman, Glenn Mabe, West Byrum, Wesley Chesson, Sandra Nixon, Frank Roberts and others who comprised the cast.

The play was produced and directed by D. Ross Inglis. At a party after the final performance, Mr. Inglis announced that future plans are under way for such as poetry readings and the next production scheduled for spring. See "Frankly Speaking" in today's paper for more Little Theatre news.

Work Of Property Revaluation In Chowan Begins This Week

The N. C. General Assembly has passed a law requiring counties to revalue all the property in each county every eight years. The last revaluation in Chowan County was in 1957.

Therefore, the next revaluation will have to be put on tax books January 1, 1966.

The County Commissioners have awarded the contract for this work to the Southern Appraisal Company of Greensboro and their representatives are here to start this work. They will be doing the Town of Edenton and adjoining property

Christmas Parade In Edenton Will Be Held Friday, Dec. 4

Santa Claus Will Be
On Hand to Distribute
Fruit and Candy
To Youngsters

Along with Santa Claus Edenton's Christmas parade Friday, December 4, will feature Miss North Carolina and the state president of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

The parade which begins at 4 o'clock will also include bands and floats. Santa Claus will meet after the parade with the children and give them bags of fruit and candy.

The annual parade is sponsored by the Edenton Business and Professional Women's Club in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Howard Ange is parade chairman and Mrs. John W. Ricks is hospitality chairman.

'64 Agriculture Census Begins In Chowan County On Nov. 23

Enumerators for the 1964 Census of Agriculture will start calling on farmers of Chowan County on Monday morning, November 23, County Extension Chairman C. W. Overman has announced.

Enumerators are local men and women hired temporarily by the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, to count the commercial farms in the communities where the enumerators live.

The purpose of the visits is to collect census questionnaires that farmers in the county have been filling out since the forms were mailed to all rural boxholders several days ago. Farmers and ranchers were thus allowed a period of time to consult their 1964 business records and to fill out the forms before the enumerators came.

Assessments Set For Water-Sewer Project

Assessment for current sewer and water expansion projects in Edenton were set Monday night by Town Council at a joint meeting with the Board of Public Works.

Following a complete appraisal of the situation, the Council established an assessment of $3.77 per foot for sewer construction and $1.59 per foot for water lines. It was emphasized by William Gardner, town administrator that these assessment figures deal only with current sewer and water expansion projects in Edenton. Continued on Page 9, Section 2

150 Hear Edentonian
Speak at Edward G.
Bond Post of American Legion Banquet

Lloyd Griffin, executive vice president of the North Carolina Citizens' Association, has warned against too much centralization of power in Washington in a Veterans Day address to the American Legion.

"I have often wondered how much of our personal liberties we would be willing to surrender to Washington if the pot was sweetened a little more," he said here as he spoke November 11 at Edward G. Bond Post 40.

He traced the total surrender of personal liberties in communistic countries and added: "And in this country my fears of a change in government are addressed to that generation called upon to live in the next great depression. Then, when food, clothes, and jobs are handed out from Washington, will our people be willing to surrender their liberties if some dictator is on hand to ask a Congress to give him dictatorial powers?"

Griffin said because of our position of world leadership among the nations we should have a strong central government, fully capable of dealing with international problems. "But at the same time," he continued, "we believe this power should be limited to foreign affairs and should have no application to the domestic affairs of the states."

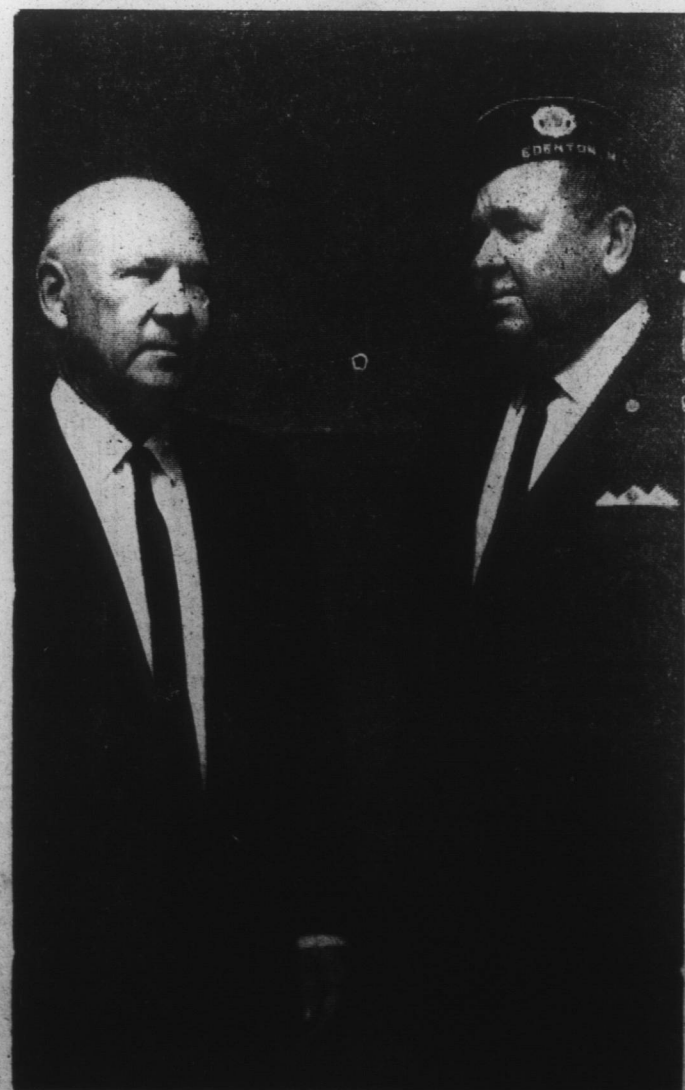

Speaking on the subject "The Price of Freedom," Griffin said the dominant idea of the founding fathers of this nation was life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. He said Joseph Hewes of Edenton was among those who subscribed to this idea.

"We have fought two world wars to maintain that freedom," Griffin said. "Freedom cannot be preserved by weak people. A philosophy of government which counsels the people to take the road of least difficulty is not the voice of freedom."

"When the people of a local community or a state are confronted with local problems, declining to cope with them and shift their responsibility to Washington, they are traveling the road which leads to an abandonment of this priceless heritage of freedom."
