

Senator Jordan Reports:

By SEN. B. EVERETT JORDAN
WASHINGTON — The efforts our government has made to bring about an end to the fighting in Vietnam should show once again that our purpose in that involvement is—as it has been all along—a peaceful settlement based on an end to communist aggression.

Although the aggressors have shown no indication of really wanting peace, our government has made very clear our position and our desire to end the war provided the communists end the invasion.

There is a wide range of opinion throughout the world—just as there is among our own people—about the wisest course to take in dealing with such a situation.

On the one hand, there are many people who feel we should not have become involved in the first place. Some of them even believe that we should withdraw and come home. If we did this, no ally in the Free World could ever depend on our word again.

On the other hand, there are many people who feel we should go all out and wipe the communists off the map with whatever it takes, including nuclear attacks on Communist China. If we recklessly pursued this course we could bring on World War III and nuclear retaliation on our own people.

The position we have taken is the middle ground between these alternatives, and it is a position we have maintained since the communist guerrillas started their attacks and infiltration into South Vietnam over ten years ago.

I am hopeful that our continuing efforts to spell out our position and our desire for an honorable settlement will bring about a way to peace.

On our own initiative, we curtailed systematic bombings. On our own initiative, we have repeatedly told the communists that we want peace and a peaceful settlement. All the communists have to do is let their neighbors alone, and peace can be a reality in Southeast Asia.

I think the biggest contribution our peaceful efforts can make is to demonstrate to the communists that we are not fighting in Vietnam just for the sake of fighting.

REV. BOB WARE

Anniversary At Immanuel

The first Sunday in February will mark the third anniversary of Rev. Bob Ware's ministry in Edenton at the Immanuel Baptist Church. A great deal has been accomplished by the church under his leadership. Although the mission, as it was then, had been in operation for a number of months, under another pastor, only 17 persons, mostly children were present for that first service with the new pastor.

From that humble beginning in an old house in North Carolina, the church has grown in number to a congregation with a Sunday School membership of over 200 persons.

The old house in North Edenton has long since been left behind and a new building, the first in a series of buildings to house the congregation, has been erected on property given the church by a local business man. It is located just off Route 32 toward Suffolk about one mile from the town limit.

Three new lots adjoining the first property have been purchased and cleared so that a new auditorium, which promises to be one of the largest and most beautiful in the entire county can be erected in the near future. The educational building now used as an auditorium will then be converted to much needed Sunday School classrooms. Attendance has increased so greatly that classes are having to meet in classrooms that are not nearly large enough.

The new auditorium will contain a nursery, restrooms and vestibule. This building will be connected with a covered passageway to the present building.

During the past three years thousands of pieces of gospel literature have been placed in homes by members of Immanuel Church. Hundreds of radio broadcasts, "The Voice of the Bible", headed by Rev. Ware, and sponsored by friends and members of the Immanuel Church have been heard over WCDJ radio. Many visits have been made to the local hospital, into homes in the area by the pastor and members of the congregation.

Finances from the Immanuel Baptist Church go across the world to spread the gospel. Almost one-fourth of everything that comes into the Immanuel Baptist Church goes for mission work either in the USA or foreign countries. One mission project of which the congregation is especially proud is its part in TRANSWORLD RADIO that beams the gospel of Christ around the world, even into iron curtain countries. It's the largest radio station in the entire world.

According to Mr. Ware, although much has been accomplished by the Immanuel Baptist Church in the past three years, there is much more to do. "We are expecting even greater things to be done in 1966," he said. "It should be our greatest year. We are going all out to make this a golden year for soul-winning and for strengthening the Christian for his everyday walk and life. By God's grace, we shall succeed."

Negro Youths Are Arrested

All of the Negro boys were released to their parents pending a hearing before Juvenile Judge Lena Leary.

Another arrest reported was William H. Felton for disregarding a stop sign.

Chowan Hospital Auxiliary will have a called meeting February 7 at St. Paul's Parish House, according to Mrs. N. J. Boyce, president. All Auxiliary members are urged to be present.
