A LIFT FOR TODAY

He that hath seen me hath seen the Father.—John 14:9.

In attitude and behavior Jesus reflected the spirit and image of our Heavenly Father, affirming, "I and my Father are one." Confidence in God does not mean that everything will turn out pleasantly, but it does mean that we can trust him at all times and follow him.

We thank Thee, O God, for the revelation of Thyself through Thy Beloved Son. We pray that Thou wilt reveal Thyself through our lives as we mingle with our fellow men.

Rotary Marks A Milestone

Rotarians of this city are this week observing the 61st anniversary of the founding of the first Rotary club. Within the next few days, more than 581,500 Rotarians who belong to 12,000 clubs in 131 countries will have celebrated this occasion.

Rotary began in Chicago on February 23, 1905, when four business associates came together to lessen the loneliness in their lives and to test the founder's belief that business relations could—and should—foster friendly relations. Business practices, thought the founder, need not be a barrier to friendship.

Since those early days, Rotary has become a prime mover in community-betterment work, youth activities, helping the crippled and the handicapped, raising the standards of business and professional practices, and in forming friendly personal ties among men that have contributed to better international understanding.

It has long been our observation that Rotarians believe in practicing rather than preaching. They are more concerned with finding new opportunities for service than with patting themselves on the back for past achievements.

The Rotary club of this community, as do other Rotary clubs in their communities, helps in many ways to make Edenton a better place to live and to work and to raise happy, healthy families.

Our congratulations to Rotarians of this community on this anniversary. We wish for the Rotary clubs of the world continued success in rendering the kind of creative service to humanity for which Rotary is especially suited.

Heard & Seen

"By Buff"

According to the scarcity of wild bird seed, a lot of people have been looking out for our feathered friends. If all who fed birds had the same experience as we had at our house, they had a lot of company of many kinds of birds—even a few sea gulls were among the visitors. A problem developed at the home of Mrs. Roland Evans, however. Mrs. Evans went to the door and was amazed at the beautiful sight of a big flock of blackbirds on the white snow. It so happened that her husband doesn't like to see anything hungry, so he slipped into the kitchen and had fed the birds a batch of biscuits Mrs. Evans had cooked for lunch. He also gathered up all the crackers in the house to feed the birds. The birds got plenty to eat, but I've not heard what Mr. Evans ate in the way of bread. The flock of birds returned the next day, but Mr. Evans was not at home at the time, so they fared about the same as he did the day before.

Apparently I got cheated out of a rabbit dinner. Clyde Slade, one of The Herald's crew, made and set out a rabbit trap and promised me one of the rabbits he expected to catch. He found out, however, that rabbits didn't particularly like his box, for he went religiously every day to the box—but no rabbit had ventured in. However last week a rabbit, no doubt, wanted to get out of the snow and cold and was trapped. But Clyde didn't get the rabbit. Somebody got to the box before he did and carried away the box. The culprit, however, was "kind" enough to skin the rabbit and let the hide mark the place where the box was placed.

And speaking about the recent snow, they say a lot of snow and cold weather is very beneficial by way of killing damaging insects. Well, if our snow kills off some of our last summer's gnat crop, it will be well worth the inconvenience it has caused.

One of my newspaper friends was telling me that he set up a miscellaneous account in his office. The only trouble, he said, was that too much emphasis had to be placed on the "miss" for too often he finds the money drawer just about like Mother Hubbard's cupboard.

Bud Amburn slipped up last week in his Public Parade column about officials up for election. George Hoskins, county treasurer, says his term is for four years, which will expire in 1968, and not in 1966 as stated in the article. I'm sure Bud regrets the error, so I'm making a correction while Bud and a large crowd of Edentonians are in Washington for the swearing-in of Walter Jones as Congressman for the First District.

In the mail this week was a letter from Frank Roberts over at Washington. In it was a note which read: "Dear Buff—I promised you, if our baby was a girl, that somehow I'd find a pink cigar for you. Remember? Well, enclosed is same." And a P.S. read, "Better check it before you light it." The "cigar" was a King Arthur bubble gum cigar. Anyway, here's one who is glad that Frank got what he wanted.

A very surprising letter was received by me Wednesday morning. It was from the Associated Press and in it was a check for $10. The check was an award for Chowan County sending in the first returns from a precinct in the special election Saturday. The vote counters did a very good job and but for the Yeopim returns, Chowan no doubt, would have been the first county to report complete returns.

Kirby, Kirby, although in his first season at Hicks Field, has gained the admiration and respect of the students, players, faculty and fans.

Coach Kinion has demonstrated unusual talent in developing a winning combination. His teams have proven that the athletic season doesn't end with the final football game but continues through the February cage tournaments.

The track, golf and baseball teams are likewise proving you can depend on the Aces in the Spring.

Local citizens get a great deal of their physical education by walking to Hicks Field or the gymnasium to show their appreciation for competent coaching and an extra effort from the players.

Jimmie Ashley On Honor List

RALEIGH — A Chowan County student at North Carolina State University has been cited for outstanding academic work during the fall semester. Chancellor John T. Caldwell has announced.

Chancellor Caldwell said Jimmie D. Ashley, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Ashley of 101 Morris Circle, Edenton, had been named to the Dean's Honor List at the University for obtaining a "B" or better grade average for the past semester which ended in late January.

Ashley is a junior and is enrolled in education. He is one of 1,137 NCS students who earned the coveted honor for their work during the fall semester.

New Books At Local Library

New books received this week at Shepard-Pruden Memorial Library are:

They Will Be Heard, America's Crusading Newspaper Editors by Jonathan Daniels.

Humphrey, a Candid Biography by Winthrop Griffith. Canada by J. Bartlett Brebner. This is the story of America's closest ally—conquering its own frontier, producing its own vast share of our continent's wealth.

Why Space? and How It Serves You in Your Daily Life by Martin Caidin with a foreword by Dr. Homer E. Newell. Associate Administrator for Space Science and Applications, NASA.

A Curtain of Ignorance by Felix Greene, author of Awakened China. The book tells how the American public has been misinformed about China.

War on Poverty by Senator Hubert H. Humphrey. A Treasury of Great American Speeches. Our country's life and history in the words of its great men. These speeches are selected by Charles Hurd.

Mr. Capehart Taken In Death

Funeral services were conducted Monday at 2 o'clock for Cadmus Capehart, 92, who died Sunday in Washington. Services were conducted at Saint Thomas Episcopal Church in Windsor by the Rev. Sterling Gordon and burial in the Holy Innocence Churchyard at Avoca, near Merry Hill.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret Smith Capehart and one son, Armstead Capehart of Windsor; one daughter, Mrs. F. E. Williams of Norfolk, Va.; four step-daughters: Mrs. W. P. McLean of Washington, N. C., Mrs. J. W. Martin, Mrs. Robert Jordan, both of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. Wendell Jordan of Waycross, Ga.; three sisters, Mrs. H. M. Bell of Windsor, Mrs. Mary Grant Wells of Sandston, Va., Mrs. G. P. Newby of Elizabeth City, and three grandchildren.

Mr. Capehart had lived in Greenville and Windsor but was a resident at Merry Hill for many years.

'DE' Trainees Have Contest

GREENVILLE — Sixteen East Carolina College students who are learning how to teach and coordinate distributive education (DE) programs in high schools have roles in a contest here this week for the kind of students they are preparing to teach. They will be observers and assistants for the competitive events designed to select outstanding high school students in North Carolina's District 10 of the Distributive Education Clubs of America.

The contest is scheduled in Rawl Building on Wednesday afternoon, February 9. The 16 East Carolina student participants include: James Kenneth Copeland, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Copeland of Tyner.

Griffin Serves Church Papers

James H. Griffin is chairman of February attendance at Immanuel Baptist Church. He is also police chief in the Town of Edenton.

It was the banner of church official—and not a police officer—that he flew recently while serving 120 "warrants" for the church.

As part of an attendance drive, Griffin served "warrants" on the church members, compelling them to be in Sunday School and church every Sunday during the month of February.

The first Sunday of the February campaign saw the church filled.

For February 13, there is a program planned by the children. It will consist of poems, music and verses. This program will be held during the Sunday School hour.

Mrs. Carroll Shows Painting

GREENVILLE—Prints and paintings by an East Carolina College School of Art faculty member are on exhibit in the Methodist Student Center near the campus. Eight oil paintings and three ink prints by Mrs. Patricia Waff Carroll will be shown through February 12 in the student center.

The exhibitor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Waff of Edenton and the wife of William Carroll of Dunn. They live at 2003 N. Heritage St., Kinston.

Mrs. Carroll is a 1964 graduate of ECC where she was named to Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. A member of Delta Phi Delta, honorary art fraternity, she was chosen the Outstanding Senior Art Student in the School of Art.

Mrs. Carroll was also president of Kappa Delta Pi honorary education fraternity and Kappa Delta social sorority. She received her master's degree at ECC in 1965.

Symphony Drive

The arts council leader told commissioners the group is interested in having as many students hear the symphony as possible. Therefore, the underwriting of tickets by the town and county will assure at least 300 free tickets for children.

Other money from local business and industry will also provide free tickets for the program.

Mrs. Inglis said these free tickets will be distributed through various music departments in the schools.

She said the Albemarle Choral Society will sing with the symphony and called it a "terrific thing for local people to sing" with this group. Tickets are expected to go on sale in the near future and at least 750 persons are expected to be in attendance at the performance.
