Carter's Ink Official

Tuscher Will Speak Here

Joseph F. Tuscher, vice president in charge of personnel for The Carter's Ink Company, will address the annual membership banquet of Edenton Chamber of Commerce on September 27.

The banquet will be held at Chowan Golf & Country Club, beginning at 7:30 P. M.

Carter's Ink is currently building a new 90,000-square-foot plant in Edenton and is expected to be in operation here shortly after January 1, 1967.

Supt. Hiram J. Mayo, chamber president, said the organization is pleased to have Tuscher here for this banquet since Carter's Ink has so recently announced plans to become a member of Edenton's growing industrial family.

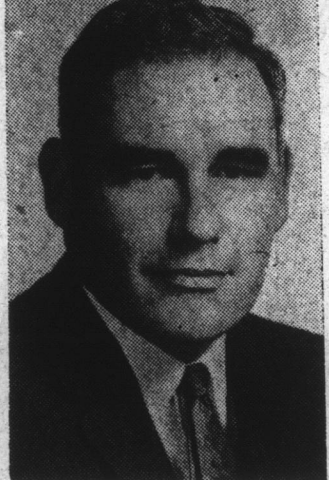

W. B. Gardner, town administrator, will succeed Supt. Mayo as head of the active community organization.

A native of Boston, Mass., and educated in Boston area schools, Tuscher received his undergraduate degree from Boston College in 1939. He subsequently completed graduate studies there as well as at Ohio State University and Northwestern University.

Following a five year tour of duty with the Army, he entered the field of vocational guidance and has been actively engaged in guidance and personnel work for over 20 years.

Tuscher joined The Carter's Ink Company as personnel director in 1955 and was named vice president of the firm.

He is a member of the American Management Association, a speaker in the College of Business Program of the National Association of Manufacturers, and active participant in church, civic and business associations, and has recently completed a three year term as a director of the Cambridge (Mass.) Chamber of Commerce.

Robert W. Moore, executive vice president of the local chamber, said tickets to the annual banquet are limited to 200 but some are still available.

James C. Dail, who is in charge of ticket sales, has requested people interested in attending the banquet to purchase a ticket by Friday so reservations can be made.

Tickets may be obtained from any director, at the chamber office or at the following establishments: Edenton Savings & Loan, Peoples Bank & Trust Company, First National Bank of Eastern North Carolina, Mitchener's Pharmacy and Hollowell's Drug Store.

CAR DEMOLISHED — Pictured here is the 1966 Fiat convertible being operated by Ann Harrell early Saturday morning when it was struck by a pickup truck on West Queen Street, near the Harrell home. Miss Harrell, popular John A. Holmes High School senior, is a patient at Chowan Hospital with serious injuries. Roland Spivey, 22, driver of the truck, has been charged with drunk driving and driving on the left side of the road.

Farmers Elect

ASCS Committee

Fifteen Chowan County farmers have been elected to the three ASCS Community Committees here.

H. O. West, ASCS manager, said the new committees will play a big role in administering farm programs in 1967.

Each community has a chairman, vice chairman and regular member who are delegates to the ASCS County Convention, to be held Monday at the Chowan County ASCS Office. The convention will convene at 9:30 A. M., at which time the county committee will be elected.

Members of the county committee are elected for three year terms with Ray Byrum, Route 3, Edenton, coming up for re-election this year.

A. C. Griffin, Route 2, Edenton, is county committee chairman, and E. E. Boyce, Jr., of Tyner, is vice chairman.

The following community committeemen were elected in balloting which began August 30 with the votes being tabulated September 14:

"A" COMMUNITY: Jarvis Skinner, Route 3, Edenton, chairman; Morris Small, Route 2, Edenton, vice chairman; Yates Parrish, Route 2, Edenton, regular member; Leonard Hare, Route 3, Edenton, first alternate; and Ed Speight, Route 2, Edenton, second alternate.

"B" COMMUNITY: Preston Monds of Tyner, chairman; Norman Hollowell of Tyner, vice chairman; Sammy By-

Ann Harrell Is Injured In Accident

Ann Harrell, popular John A. Holmes High School senior, was admitted to Chowan Hospital early Saturday after her car was involved in an accident on West Queen Street.

While her injuries were painful and serious in nature, she was not considered to be critically injured. She received a broken left arm and cuts about the face and head in the 12:10 A. M. mishap.

Roland Spivey, 22, Route 1, Merry Hill, was jailed on charges of driving drunk and driving on the left side of the road. He was examined and released from the hospital.

A police department investigation showed that Miss Harrell was traveling west on West Queen Street, near the intersection of Dickinson Street, when her 1966 Fiat convertible was struck by a 1963 Chevrolet pickup truck being operated by Spivey.

Investigating officers said the truck was 11 feet north of the center line in the road when it collided with the car. The impact spun the small convertible around in the highway after ripping back the left side of the vehicle.

Damage to the Fiat was estimated at $2,000, while damage to the truck, owned by Ahoskie Sign Company, was set at $1,000.

Miss Harrell, chief cheerleader at the high school, lives on West Queen Street only a few hundred yards from where the accident occurred. She had attended the Edenton Aces-Northampton football contest at Jackson earlier in the evening and was returning home at the time of the mishap.

Aces Continue Winning Ways; At Home Friday

With their eye on the fourth win of the season and the 29th consecutive victory, the Edenton Aces meet Williamston at Hicks Field Friday night.

After a slow start, the Aces have come along strong in the last two encounters of the young season, winning last week 33-6 at Northampton.

Coach Marion Kirby has been working his team long and hard on conditioning and timing in preparation for the game with Williamston. While the Aces have rolled up big scores in the last two games, Coach Kirby has not been impressed with the performance of his team.

The return of Quarterback Wes Chesson to the lineup has bolstered the Aces' chance to have another undefeated season—the third in a row.

At Northampton, Chesson ran for two touchdowns and then passed for another in leading his team to victory. His scores came on runs of four and 30 yards. A sensational 60 yard run was called back because of a penalty.

The pass-run play from Chesson to Quinton Goodwin covered 63 yards. Goodwin, a junior halfback, has also turned in some impressive

The Public Parade

WITHOUT PAD — The so-called White Backlash to the Johnson Administration's Civil Rights legislation push is causing some unjust criticism of Rep. Walter B. Jones of the First Congressional District.

While, like the President, Rep. Jones is a Democrat he thinks far to the right of the administration in the field of Civil Rights. There are many different breeds of cattle, horses, etc. By the same token, there are about as many different types of Democrats.

The difference between the administration and Rep. Jones on the question of Civil Rights is clear. This has been borne out time and time again as hospitals were certified to participate in Medicare and schools got in compliance with the dictatorial guidelines of the Office of Education.

The local school situation is an excellent example of how Rep. Jones has worked closely with the people back home to solve individual problems.

Office of Education officials have a convenient memory. Chowan County Board of Education was given two years to work out a merger with the Edenton administrative unit and stop bussing Negroes from White Oak School into Edenton for schooling.

However, in the compliance plan for the city unit was written a sentence stating this unit would not accept any new Negro students from the county, beginning in 1966-67. The fact that after this was sent to Washington the city and county boards adopted "open door" policies had little effect on the federal inspectors.

The Office of Education held the city unit to the statement about accepting the students and if the unit was to stay in compliance they had to reject 26 Negro ninth graders.

When the boards got an appointment in Washington to discuss the matter, they found Rep. Jones willing to spend a day of his valuable time trying to get a compromise. He was not successful.

The congressman then outlined what would happen concerning federal funds if a unit was out of compliance. Because of the steps necessary for the government to take to cut off funds, it would have taken months for this to come about. Nevertheless, the city unit held fast to their commitment.

Yes, the 26 students were enrolled in Chowan High School. But Walter Jones didn't put them there. He used the influence of his office to keep them from being transferred back to the county and to avoid mass integration of the previously predominantly white school.

Now he is being convicted for someone's sins other than his own. It comes about because he is a member of the Democratic Party, the party of the current administration in Washington.

By being an outspoken critic and actively opposed to Civil Rights legislation in Congress during this term, Rep. Jones will not get the Negro vote in the November election.

Golden Frinks, a person well known in this area, has said flatly: "We're going to have to bring him home," in reference to the way the congressman has voted and spoken on the subject of Civil Rights.

Those who would like to unseat our able congressman have all but abandoned a campaign against him. They can't find any real issues. He hasn't been the rubber stamp for President Johnson they predicted. If he was ever a rubber stamp of any sort, Walter Jones has proven beyond question that he went to Washington without a stamp pad.

The thinking people of the First Congressional District, and especially in Chowan County, won't fall for a negative campaign; a campaign run against President Johnson and not the incumbent congressman.

Chowan County has a self-interest in keeping Rep. Jones in Congress. He is practically a native-son and because of his outstanding accomplishments in the field of public service deserves our continued vote and support.

Match this record with the opponent and you would see that Rep. Jones ranks heads and shoulders above him, rubber stamp, pad and all.

JAYCEES ARE COMING—Edenton Jaycees hope to fill up a warehouse with paper which will be collected throughout the town Sunday afternoon. This is the latest in a long list of Jaycee projects.

Residents are asked to place old newspapers, magazines, etc., on the curb to be picked up during the afternoon.

As we said earlier, you will not only be helping the club by cooperating in this project, you will also be saving the garbage man some back strain.

We love newspapers and naturally hate to see them misused. But if they have to go we know of no better way than in the hands of the Jaycees. Handle them with tender care, men!

TOE REPORT—Bill Mitchener gained a lot of fame while playing center for the Edenton Aces. He became known as The Toe as a result of his ability to split the uprights following a touchdown.

During the tenure of Coach Jerry McGee at Hicks Field, Bill had many opportunities to kick extra points since the Aces made it a habit to score a lot.

Legion Banquet Slated Thursday

Robert Davis of Salisbury, State Department Commander, American Legion, will keynote the annual membership banquet September 27 by Edward G. Bond Post No. 40.

The banquet is traditionally held at Center Hill Community Building and will begin at 7 P. M.

Davis, prominent Rowan County attorney who has been active in political circles as well as in the American Legion, is making his first visit to Northeastern North Carolina since he assumed his duties as State Department Commander.

The local American Legion post in the home post of J. L. Chestnut, division commander, and E. L. Hollowell, district commander.

A good representation from throughout this district is expected to be on hand to hear Commander Davis.

Commander W. E. (Monk) Mills of the local post said banquet tickets are still available and can be purchased by calling either him or Hollowell.

KEYS LOST

H. C. Jackson, 300 South Moseley Street, lost a key ring holding valuable keys somewhere in Edenton last Friday. Anyone finding these keys are asked to contact Jackson, phone 482-2612.

AT PLANNING MEETING — E. L. Hollowell, left, chairman of the Edenton Planning Board, goes over information gathered at a regional planning meeting held Thursday at Chowan Golf & Country Club, with George I. Woodall, Jr., community planner. Representatives from towns and counties in Chowan and the surrounding area attended the day-long conference conducted by representatives of the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill and the planning division of the State Department of Conservation and Development.

Cancer Society Meets Tonight

The annual meeting of the Chowan County Unit, American Cancer Society, will be held tonight (Thursday) at the Municipal Building. The meeting will begin at 7:30 P. M.

President Jack Douglas said Dr. Robert L. Poston of Elizabeth City will be the guest speaker for this important meeting.

New officers for the county unit will be selected at the meeting and other important business will be discussed.

The general public is invited to attend.

Hospital Issue Gaining Support

Edenton Lions Club has become the second organization in Chowan County to give enthusiastic endorsement to the $1½-million hospital bond issue.

Action by the local club followed similar action last week by Edenton Woman's Club.

Meanwhile, members of the hospital board, the medical staff and others interested in a favorable vote on the issue which would provide funds for construction of a new 60-bed hospital, are traveling throughout the county explaining the need and answering questions from interested citizens.

Teams have appeared before Chowan Tribe of Red Men; Beech Fork and Oak Grove Home Demonstration Club; and the Community Development Council.

Representatives of an educational committee will be at Chowan Ruritan Club next week and will appear before other groups in the future.

Those who favor the construction of the new medical facility in Chowan County have been gratified by the reception they have received at the various meetings in the community.

Williams Found Guilty Of Entering Residence

John James Williams was sentenced in Chowan County Superior Court last week to 10 years in prison for breaking, entering and larceny.

Williams, now serving a term for a similar offense in Wake County, was charged with entering the home of Mrs. John Bond, North Granville Street, the night of August 21, 1965.

Judge William J. Bundy of Greenville ordered that the

2,100 Notices

Sent Taxpayers

Taxpayers in the Town of Edenton received a special piece of mail Tuesday morning. The small window envelopes distributed by the postman contained notices of 1966 taxes due.

While taxpayers were less than elated over the reminder of their obligation to the town, employees at the Municipal Building were happy that this phase of their work was completed. At least, it was over for another year.

W. B. Gardner, town administrator, said 2,100 tax notices were mailed Monday afternoon. The total levy is $102,102.50.

sentence here run concurrently with the sentence Williams is now serving.

Solicitor Herbert Small put the defendant on trial for second degree burglary but the jury convicted him of the lesser offenses. He was represented by Merrill Evans, who was appointed by Judge Bundy when the defendant said he was unable to hire an attorney.

Mrs. Bond said that on the night someone broke into her home while she was there and stole her pocketbook containing a bus ticket to Asheville.

Edenton Police notified Queen City Trailways that the ticket was missing and requested that they be notified in case anyone attempted to get it refunded.

A handwriting expert with the State Bureau of Investigation testified that the defendant's handwriting matched that in notes to the bus company. Also, Williams was linked to the scene by a footprint.

In the final case tried during the lengthy term, Clyde T. Slade was found not guilty of assaulting John Rankin with a deadly weapon. The jury deliberated only 15
