

Rescue Groups Meet In Edenton

The Edenton-Chowan Rescue Squad has become part of the North Carolina Association of Rescue Squads. The local unit joined the state organization at a District I meeting here Sunday at the Edenton Restaurant.

Commander of the association, A. B. Parker, explained to the group the benefits of the organization and especially the service of "mutual aid." He said that in the event of a disaster locally in a matter of minutes between 200 and 400 men from all areas of the state, fully equipped, would be on their way to assist in the emergency.

The association promotes organized rescue and first aid work and helps in the development of high ethical standards.

Melvin Jennings, district director and captain of the Pasquotank Rescue Squad, presided at the meeting. Also attending the meeting was Roy Kane, treasurer of the state association. Both officials of the state organization serve without compensation and travel extensively promoting rescue squads.

Over 25 men attended from the Pasquotank, Edenton-Chowan, Colerain and Murfreesboro squads. The Murfreesboro squad is the newest, being formed only two weeks ago.

First National Promotes Nash

JACKSONVILLE — A veteran of 26 years in the North Carolina banking industry has been named vice president and coordinator of all branches for the First National Bank of Eastern North Carolina, it was announced here today.

B. W. Nash, who for the past two years has been in charge of operations and personnel for five First National branches in the Wilmington area, was named to fill the newly-created position.

James F. Allen, a veteran of 18 years in the banking industry who joined First National earlier this month as an assistant to Nash, has meanwhile been elected assistant cashier and will assume responsibilities for operations and personnel for the five Wilmington branches.

J. Hugh Rich, executive vice president of the statewide system, said in making both announcements here today:

"Rapid expansion of the First National has necessitated the creation of a central coordinator for all branch operations and we are certain that the talents and energies of B. W. Nash will prove invaluable in delivering an even higher level of service to the communities we serve."

Rich also noted that "the advancement of Mr. Nash to this important post was made possible at this time only through the fortunate addition of Mr. James F. Allen to our staff."

Nash will be located at the system's central offices in Jacksonville "but will divide his attention between his new and former responsibilities for several weeks," Rich added.

Nash held executive positions with Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., in Raleigh for 24 years before joining the First National two years ago.

He has completed numerous courses sponsored by the American Institute of Banking and also is a three-year graduate of the bankers school sponsored by the N. C. Bankers Association at Chapel Hill in cooperation with the University of North Carolina.

Tickets On Sale For Symphony

Tickets are now on sale for the spring concert of North Carolina Little Symphony and the Albemarle Choral Society. The joint program will be held at 4 P. M., March 5 in the gymnasium of The College of the Albemarle.

Many local singers will appear with these groups. Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for students up to college age, and 50 cents for children 12 years old or younger who must be accompanied by a parent. These tickets can now be purchased from members of the choral society or from Mrs. Paul Wallace or Mrs. Frank Elliott.

Since there are no immediate plans for a chartered bus this year, it is requested that car pools be made up in advance so everyone who desires to attend the concert may do so.

The course was planned at John A. Holmes High School, in cooperation with the College of the Albemarle for interested citizens.

Fry said he regrets this course cannot be offered at this time but additional adult education classes are being planned.
