Death Claims Mrs. C. D. Webb

30 YEARS AGO
Edenton began to realize what work on the new vehicular bridge across Albemarle Sound would mean to the town when 10 State Highway Department engineering supervisors took up quarters in Hotel Joseph Hewes and a number of bridge-men employed by the construction contractor located themselves in private quarters with at least 150 others scheduled to arrive when the bridge really got under way.

That Edenton received favorable publicity through football players was evident by news reaching here that Calvin Sexton and Paul Spencer had been offered an opportunity to enroll at Cornell University and Louisiana State. Both boys were members of the Edenton State Class B high school championship team in 1934 and had made names for themselves on the Augusta Military Academy eleven which was coached by Henry House, who was also Edenton's coach when the state championship was won.

Of interest to Edentonians was a resolution introduced by John F. White, Representative in the House of Representatives which had to do with a proposed one-day meeting of the Legislature in the historic Chowan County Court House.

Except for a number of minor changes, the General Assembly gave its final stamp of approval to the so-called "rum bill" providing for a county option on liquor control. Information reaching The Herald was to the effect that total retail sales in Edenton showed the substantial increase of $231,000 in two years.

Discussions and opinions, mingled with a certain amount of cussing, followed very quickly after. The Herald carried a story relative to Rep. John F. White's proposal to make a radical change in the county school system.

A notice of dissolution of partnership appeared in The Herald whereby T. C. Byrum became the sole owner of Byrum Bros. Hardware Company. Mr. Byrum bought the entire interest of his brother, George P. Byrum.

J. L. Chestnutt, formerly a resident of Edenton but lately living in Belhaven, was arranging to open a dry cleaning and pressing plant in a room adjoining the lobby of Hotel Joseph Hewes.

E. R. Conger, who for several days was desperately ill, was reported to show slight improvement.

A change in ownership of Chowan Motor Company took place when there were two partners instead of four. The two owners were L. S. Byrum and O. B. Perry, who bought out the interest of J. E. Jackson and W. J. Yates.

Two of Ruth Vail's poems were included in "Poems of All Nations" (The Channing Press, England) an international volume of verse which included many Americans.

Miss Blanche Leary had the misfortune to fall and break her leg while visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Elliott.

20 YEARS AGO
John Mitchener, owner of Edenton's frozen locker plant, announced that the name of the new concern would be "Colonial Frozen Food Lockers."

Mrs. Lula Welch was elected president of the Negro County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs.

Percy Smith was a patient in General Hospital, Norfolk, due to an infected tooth.

Two Edenton young men, Lt. (jg) Thomas W. Elliott and Lt. Charles H. Wood, USNR, received permanent citations for their Air Medals from Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal, for the President.

Chief of Police George I. Dail appealed to parents of children to help break up the practice of shooting air rifles and .22 calibre rifles within the city limits.

George S. Twiddy, local mutual insurance agent, moved into larger quarters in the Citizens Bank Building.

J. E. Baker was elected president of Chowan Farm Bureau, succeeding William A. Harrell.

Dean Hudson and his 18-piece orchestra staged an entertaining program in the high school auditorium.

Arrangements were completed by the Edenton-Chowan Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association to stage a "Boost Edenton-Chowan County" party in the local armory.

P. S. Randolph, state representative for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, was in Edenton in the interest of setting up here a treatment center for infantile paralysis for the eastern counties of North Carolina. Dr. Frank Wood, medical director of the Edenton Hospital at the Naval Air Station and after visiting the hospital plant, expressed the opinion that conditions were ideal for the establishment of such a center.

William P. Jones announced that, effective March 1, he had sold his interest in the Chowan Motor Company to the Perry brothers, O. B., P. G. and J. G. Perry. Mr. Jones stated he would devote his full time to the peanut processing business. He was a partner in Spedic Food Products, Inc., which he and Richard Goodwin organized January 1, 1946.

Unusually cold weather for this section for several days held up completion of the new boiler room for the hospital at the Edenton Naval Air Station.

Bolstered by music lovers from many nearby towns, the Edenton High School auditorium was filled to capacity to hear Arthur Kent, Metropolitan baritone, present the second of a series of concerts sponsored by the Community Concert Association.

L. A. Patterson succeeded J. Clarence Leary as chairman of the Red Cross Fund Raising drive in Chowan County.

Mrs. Earl Goodwin was elected president of the Junior Woman's Club, succeeding Mrs. R. H. Vaughan.

We took up dues. Mrs. Harrell gave us material to make place mats. We spent the rest of the meeting making mats. Then we went home.

"A second thought on first aid"

We're constantly amazed at the number of children who cut, scrape and bruise themselves within sight (and sound) of our pharmacy. We do a big business in antiseptics, bandages, and other first-aid items. Same everywhere, probably. But sometimes we wonder if people don't depend too much on first aid—neglect proper medical attention. If there's the slightest question in your mind following what appears to be minor injuries, see your physician. First aid has definite limitations. You can only be sure of proper medical care by seeing your doctor. A prompt visit can save a half dozen later.
