Dear Lord, help me through this day,
With all the work I've planned;
But let me be kind and patient
And willing to give a helping hand.

Most of us work ourselves into a "tizzy," thinking about all the real important things we MUST do each day, until we lose track of our perspective and get more confused. Once in a while we meet someone and through conversation we come to the realization that we're taking too wild a ride through life, so to speak. This came to me recently when I chatted briefly with one of my favorite ladies, Mrs. "CC" Harney, who told me in her quiet, serene way that she tried to live just for the moment, without fuss or frustration. Everyone loves Mrs. "CC" for her kind, gentle and interesting outlook on life. Truly a wonderful pattern to use as a guide.

Do you realize that the history of man revolves around a garden? In the first garden of Eden there began happiness; in the crucifixion there was a garden; the hope and seed of life eternal lies in the Garden of Life. Throughout one's life, one must choose among the great variety of seeds and flowers and then, many times we allow the weeds to take over. Still, there's always a chance to pull up the weeds and restart our garden with lovely flowers and fruitful plants, a garden of life to remember.

Do you talk to yourself? Well, stop worrying about it if you do. Authorities say it is not a sign of lunacy, but merely a sign of preoccupation with personal problems, which can often be worked out in these one-way discussions.

The average life span 2000 years ago was 30 years from the cradle to the grave. Today it is better than 70 years, but death is still inevitable. Prominent physicians have been able to add a year here and a few months there and try to hold back the aging process. But still death is unavoidable and inevitable. God still holds the upper hand and I can't help but wonder if God doesn't smile at man's attempt to govern death and the weather.

If you missed the Craftsman's Fair in Elizabeth City last week, you certainly missed a big event. It was truly great to see the results of ingenuity and craft brought about by skillful and resourceful people of surrounding counties. Many articles were for sale and both the buyer and the seller were proud of the purchases.

I just read where four university coeds in Austria are giving free haircuts—and a kiss—to any male willing to have his Beatle locks shorn. Quite an incentive!

By the way, Buff is receiving daily, letters and notes from far away places complimenting him on his 30 years of service to the community. On one point they all agree—he is truly a deserving citizen.

One of the most beautiful sights these nights is the full moon shining over Edenton Bay.

Beauty Hints

Plain club soda is excellent for cleaning and stimulating the skin before applying make-up.

To keep hair clean between shampoos, section hair gently and cleanse each parting with cotton pads soaked in witch hazel.

Helpful Hints

To loosen the grips of screws on wood, drop peroxide or vinegar on them and allow drops to soak in.

Stubborn stains such as carbon and paints can be easily wiped off formica with baby oil.

MEN! To freshen a pipe, dip the pipe cleaner in RUM. (Buff, take note). Yeah, but why mess up the rum?

GREENVILLE — The School of Nursing at East Carolina College has established a new honorary organization, Tau Pi Upsilon, for its most promising future nurses.

The chapter was launched with charter membership of 27, including undergraduates, graduates and faculty.

Among the student members is Sandra Bunch Ervin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Bunch, 210 South Oakum Street, Edenton.

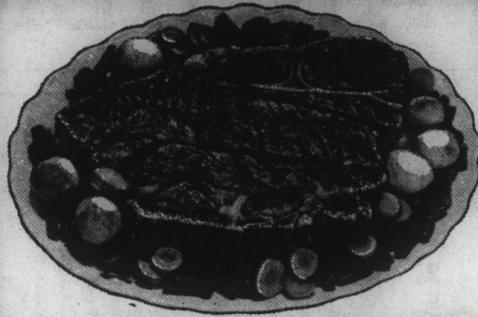

As the May 2 Municipal Election nears, I wish to again ask for your support and vote in my candidacy for Councilman-at-Large.

In the more than three years I was privileged to serve on the Council, before moving to another Ward, I became quite familiar with the current problems in Edenton. My colleagues were concerned, as I was, about these problems and we worked in harmony to get something done about them. I am now seeking the opportunity to be of continued service to my fellow citizens.

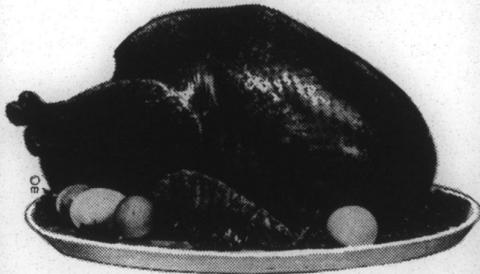

Again, I solicit your active support and vote in the forthcoming election.
