MY SON: EDWARD ZIMMERMAN

If anyone noticed an unkempt young man wandering about Edenton over the past two weeks, it was me. While enjoying my first real vacation in two years of the daily clean-shaven-shirt-and-tie regimen, I have wasted as little time as possible on the niceties of civilization. One doesn't need a shave to doze in the sun, or a fancy get-up to go fishing.

In the "grass is always greener . . ." category, it is hard for me to imagine where Edentonians would go for their vacation, considering the amenities of this town and countryside. My wife and I are always trying to get Englishmen to visit friendly places like Edenton when they come to America, instead of tourist traps like New York, a city so untypical of our country (and mind you, I've lived there). But the average European either doesn't understand or is intimidated by the very size of our country. Consider the fact that England proper is smaller than North Carolina.

The more places Geri and I visit, the more we realize "there's no place like home." In spite of the social upheavals that are getting so much press coverage these days, America is still the greatest country in the world. This is certainly exemplified by the wealth of history and period architectures in Edenton, but we are even more impressed by the people.

Buff took me to the Rotary Club meeting last week, where I was delighted to meet several of the leading Edenton businessmen. A scrumptious barbecued chicken lunch was followed by a lively discussion of the North Carolina Fund. It was encouraging to hear such a wide divergence of opinions expressed on the subject.

We haven't had the good fortune of knowing Buff nearly as long as most of the readers of this paper, but I can't help volunteering another (albeit Johnny-come-lately) comment, in the form of an excerpt from a conversation with Ernest Kehayas. "It's too bad Buff doesn't have a mean streak in him," I said.

"What kind of a thing to say is that?" exclaimed Ernest.

"If he did, then I could describe him to my friends in England," I explained, "because when I tell them what a completely good person he is, they don't believe me."

Fascinated by the luxurious grass in front of the Tower of London, an American tourist asked one of the "Beefeater" guards how the English gardeners got it started. "Elementary," he explained. "They planted the seed, then rolled, watered and cut it regularly."

The American complained, "My father and I have been tending our front lawn just like that ever since I can remember, and it's nowhere near as nice as this. How long have they been tending this grass?"

The Beefeater sniffed, "Nine hundred years."

WINTER STORM TODAY
A winter storm
Came this morn',
Lifting brown leaves
To unannounced heights,
Then beating them down
With wet kisses.

I saw new streams
Branch out anew,
Flooding ditches, and
Finally, into the swamp.

Soon the storm blew on-ward
To a new winter morn'.

"Sure gets the nuts off the vine!"

B. H. Goodrich, Wakefield, Virginia

"The Lilliston 1500 Peanut Combine is quiet-running and will pick under any conditions. It doesn't make any difference what they are, it sure will get the peanuts off the vine. The 1500 has good speed, too. It leaves the vines just right for baling."

"Most dependable Combine I've ever seen."

Hunter Sharp, Jr., Ahoskie, North Carolina

"I like the Lilliston 1500 because the vines go through the wide header so well. Once the vines get inside, they go through the combine cleanly and uniformly, without clogging. It will do quality picking at faster speeds . . . it's the most dependable combine I've ever seen."
