

Report From Washington

By Rep. Walter B. Jones

Last week was a most unusual one in the nation's capital. Monday, June 17, I witnessed a group of about 50 young men and women protesting the Vietnam war, six of whom went on the grounds of the United States Supreme Court and burned their draft cards. Also, on Monday, the Supreme Court handed down several more "decisions." Included was one which in effect prevents the states from setting standards and regulations as to the qualifications of welfare recipients.

pending upon who was doing the estimating. The news media in Washington generally agreed that it was not a success. One Washington newspaper related an announcement that came over the public address system at Resurrection City as follows: "Will the Rev. James Bevel please move his Jaguar, it is blocking traffic."

Commenting on the large number who have returned to their homes, Allen Jackson, who claims to be the chief security marshal of Resurrection City, had this to say: "The reason they leave is that men are tired of coming home from a day's picketing to find their belongings stolen and their wives raped." I still hope that the House will consider a bill which I introduced a few weeks ago,

House Resolution 1152, which would prohibit the use of federal property for "the housing or camping of the purpose of permitting persons participating in organized marches, sit-ins, or other demonstrations in the District of Columbia." For after all, this property which is being abused, belongs to each of us as American citizens and taxpayers.

The major legislation considered last week was the tax package bill which involved a 10 per cent surtax increase coupled with a spending cut of $6 billion. It passed the House on Thursday by a vote of 268 to 150. The major argument for approval was that it would stop the dangerous inflation which this nation is now experiencing. I have searched in vain, including having a conference with the Honorable Henry Fowler, Secretary of the Treasury, for some assurance that if this bill passed, could the Congress be certain that they would not be asked later on in this present session to appropriate huge sums of money for new and unproven social programs. For if this is done, the action of Thursday will be of little or no avail. This assurance I did not receive; therefore, I voted no.

It is my intense hope that future developments will prove me wrong, and that the tax increase and reduction in spending will halt the rising costs and restore the sound value of the dollar, both at home and abroad.

ACCEPTS POSITION—

Lynwood Tharrington, former math teacher at D. F. Welker High School, has recently accepted a position at N. C. College in Durham. He has also been awarded an assistantship at N. C. State University in Raleigh and will work toward a master's degree in math.

Taylor Family Visits Together

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Taylor of Tyner were guests of their eight daughters and one son of Waterbury, Conn., for the week of June 15 through June 21. The entire family had not been together for 10 years.

During the 10 years absence of seeing each other at brief intervals, many wonderful things have taken place such as the arrival of new grandchildren, the marriage of their only son and the graduation of their oldest grandson, Matthew Stanley.

After spending a week of sight seeing, visiting relatives and remembering old times, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor returned home.

Know The Facts

A shipwrecked sailor, who has spent five years on a desert island, was overjoyed one day to see a ship drop anchor in the bay. A small boat came ashore and an officer handed the sailor a bundle of newspapers.

"The captain suggests," he said, "that you read what's going on in the world today, and then let us know if you want to be rescued."
