Sunday School Lesson

But we must not accomplish our mission with an overbearing mien; we must be guided by the example set by Christ in His lifetime on earth. He did not reproach; rather, He looked for the good in the sinner, bringing out, by praise and expressions of faith, the latent desirable qualities of the individual. He always, when confronted with a penitent sinner, pictured to them their possi-

$2 Extra

An Amazonian wife got into an argument with her little weasel husband, beat the daylight out of him, was hauled into court and fined $10. Instead of handing the clerk $10 she handed him $12.

"What's the extra $2 for?" he asked.

"Amusement tax."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy shown during the illness and death of our loved one. Also for the beautiful floral tributes, cards, food and other gifts.

bilities as a very special individual. Jesus was forever making people believe in themselves.

The Christian faith is dedicated to making the bad among us good, and the good among us better. But we among us who strive to bring others to God must not think that we, ourselves, are perfect. For to do so would be a fallacy — a fallacy which those with whom we come in contact would be quick to recognize. We have our own daily personal battles to fight, and we must fight them and win before we can urge others to fight on Christ's side.

This is where we gain comfort in the knowledge that we are "special" in God's sight.
