Search On For Area Junior Miss

The search is on once again for the Albemarle Junior Miss!

This contest, sponsored by the Hertford Jaycees, will culminate November 23 when the winner is chosen at the Perquimans County High School.

Announcement of the contest, a highly popular activity last year, was made by Welly White and Billy White, co-chairmen of the Jaycee Pageant Committee.

Miss Carol Lassiter of Edenton was runner-up last year.

The local Junior Miss title is given to the high school senior between the ages of 18 and 19, who best typifies the ideal American teenager.

includes personality, talent, scholastic achievement and personal appearance.

Teenage girls of the Albemarle Area who are interested in competing can obtain entry blanks from your local school or from any Hertford Jaycee.

The girl chosen as the local Junior Miss will be presented a scholarship and the Junior Miss Trophy. She also will represent the Albemarle Area in the state finals of the Junior Miss Pageant.

The state winner then will compete in the national finals at Mobile, Ala. The national winner shares in the $42,000 American's Junior Miss Scholarship fund.

Witnesses Attend Training Session

Jehovah's Witnesses will be leaving town this week-end to attend a three-day training conference in Raleigh, M. E. Beltrami, resident presiding minister, said yesterday in announcing the cancellation of meetings until Tuesday.

Instead of attending seminars, each Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses operates a ministry school so even persons with low incomes can receive college-level ministry training. Mr. Beltrami explained that periodically the students and instructors are gathered together for a weekend of specialized instruction.

He said the Friday evening program will demonstrate two of the weekly congregation meetings, a model ministry school and a model service meeting, with a view to upgrading the instruction given on the local level.

Mr. Beltrami said the program is designed to be interesting to children and adults and provides healthy association for the youth, many of whom volunteer their services to work during the conference.

He estimated that 90 percent of young children today are readers of "comic" books in which, not comedy, but horror and violence are paraded before their impressionable minds. Sex, narcotics and smoking are already common subjects of conversation among school children in lower grades.

"This is why," he said, "we encourage our children to enroll in the local ministry school, and why we look forward to taking them along to circuit and district seminars. They may not be able to explain everything they hear, but they are hearing good things and enjoy good association."

Highlight of the Raleigh meeting will be a public lecture at 3 P. M. Sunday on the subject "God's Way Is Love." Upwards of 800 persons are expected to attend from Eastern North Carolina.

WET Formed By Sportsmen

PLYMOUTH — Wetlands and Estuaries for Tomorrow, an Eastern North Carolina-based conservation organization, has recently been incorporated under North Carolina statutes as a non-profit corporation.

"We will now be able to appeal to foundations, private organizations and other interested parties for tax-exempt contributions for our projects," said H. E. Harrison, Jr., of Plymouth, president of WET.

The directors of the new corporation are, in addition to Harrison, Bruce L. Alexander of Greenville and E. A. Thorne, Jr., of Washington.

Formed last spring by a group of conservation-minded sportsmen, WET is directed towards promoting of conservation, restoration, management and wise use of all wetlands, estuaries and related natural resources.

Funds contributed to the non-profit corporation, Harrison said, will be used to lease and purchase land for wildlife management and to finance impoundments and resting areas.

WET members now number about 300, most of whom live in North Carolina. There are, however, 11 different states represented in the organization's general membership.

"Better than any peanut combine I've ever had."

Garland Prevatte, Route #1, Council, North Carolina reports on results with the new Lilliston Combine:

"I like the 1968 Lilliston 1500 better than any peanut combine I've ever had. It really does a good job in the roughest conditions. It will get all the nuts from tough, big vines—like N. C. #2, even when they are very green. I also grow N. C. #5 and Florigiant peanuts, and my new Lilliston 1500 gets them all, too. I also like the wide header on the 1500. It enables us to pick right through the windrow turns."

Overwhelming testimony proves the Lilliston first in the field
