

BROAD STREET BULLETIN...

By Kate

Happy birthday, little girl,
And please, Lord, let her stay
As happy through the coming year
As perfect as she is today.

She'll be four next week, just four years and sometimes all of us expect a little one who has just been here four years to behave like an adult and to understand the way we do. How can we expect such, when at fifty or more we still don't know how to behave?

I was sorry to hear of Mrs. R. P. Badham's death. I did not know her very well, but I admired her cheerfulness and she always seemed to be happy. Even on the hottest days of summer, one could see her always with her pretty hats and white gloves—a lady to be remembered.

We spent Friday night at Rocky Mount as a guest of my son Martin and where we attended with him a meeting of the Full Gospel group. We heard an inspiring message by a well known lay leader from New Jersey, who, in himself was a great example of living today for Christ.

set and the quietness of the evening.

Here's a recipe for Carrot Cake, a repeat request:

- 2 cups grated carrots.
  - 1 1/2 cups Mazola salad oil.
  - 1 cup sugar.
  - 4 eggs.
  - 3 cups plain flour sifted together with 1 tsp. soda.
  - 2 tsp. baking powder.
  - 1 tsp. salt.
  - 1 tsp. cinnamon.
  - 1/2 cup chopped nuts.
- Mix salad oil, sugar and eggs together and beat well. Add grated carrots, then flour mixture and nuts. Bake in tube pan for one hour at 350 degrees. (This is delicious).

By the way, there's a new look at the P & Q Super Market. All the ladies at the checkout counter have new blue uniforms which are quite attractive and pleasant to the eyes.

A Few Hints

Don't be surprised if you hear that the Buffaloes are through with the fishing business. We went to the beach again this weekend and came home with fish, yes—some of the shrimp we took along for bait. Creek fishing is off, too, they always bit the day before. Well—we do enjoy the boat rides in the sun-

To attract birds to an outdoor bird bath, add a few colored marbles. A light coating of varnish on window screens will prevent unsightly stains caused by rain. A discarded powder puff is more efficient than a cloth for polishing silver. Carraway seeds added to beef patties gives them a better flavor.

Job Corps Aids Youth

Joe, dressed neatly in a blue shirt and dark pants, spoke softly about his family, his ambitions and his reasons for dropping out of school.

Across the desk from him sat Mrs. Hazel Tayloe, listening intently to the youth's words. Occasionally she would stop the youth, probe the question at hand, and take some notes.

Joe was applying for Job Corps training, and Mrs. Tayloe was helping to recruit him. Her title is Job Corps Counselor, and she works for the State Department of Social Services.

Joe is a typical case that Mrs. Tayloe and the 10 other Job Corps Counselors that cover the state come in contact with daily. He is only one of the approximately 40 per cent of students that drop out of North Carolina's public schools yearly.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 2,511 North Carolina male youths between 16 and 21 years of age applied for enrollment in Job Corps. The regional office accepted 2,433 applicants and 1,724 enrollees departed for a Job Corps Center. According to figures obtained from the national office of Job Corps, North Carolina maintained the national enrollment rate.

Reports from the State Department of Social Services show three male youths from Chowan County were enrolled in Job Corps Centers as of July 1. During the past 46 months 28 male youths from this county reported to Job Corps Centers. Of that number 10 resigned before 90 days, 11 after 90 days but did not graduate and four graduated.

Mrs. Tayloe assists applicants in filling out their application and administers a verbal matching test and a short written test to determine whether the applicant would go to a conservation camp or an urban camp.

Applicants face a maximum of three weeks waiting period while forms are processed in the regional office. After they are officially accepted into the program, Mrs. Tayloe will receive transportation tickets for them to the center where they were assigned.

Once at the center, an applicant's life will take on a rapid pace, molding him for a future with business opportunities. He will take part in a physical fitness program to strengthen his body, he will work toward a high school diploma, he will take part in recreational programs with boys his own age and he will enter a job-training program.

At the center he will learn to dress neatly and speak clearly. He will be given instruction on how to approach an employer and seek a job. A new self-confidence will be built in him, making him a valuable asset to the community and to himself.

He will be at the center until he completes his job training and graduates from the program. He will then either enter an on-the-job training program in industry or take a position in his field of training.

While he is at the center, he will earn $30 a month for spending money and $50 a month will be saved for him toward the time he graduates.

The Job Corps is open to young men and women between the ages of 16 and 21, who are out of school, unable to find an adequate job and in need of a change of environment to become useful and productive citizens.

Mrs. Tayloe can be contacted at P. O. Box 325, Aulander, N. C. 27805 or P. O. Box 296, Edenton, N. C. 27932.

Mrs. Tayloe is not responsible for recruiting female Job Corps applicants but she can provide interested persons with information on where to apply.
