MEATLOAF IN THE ROUND—Jazz up an old favorite by baking a spicy meatloaf in a ring mold and tempt the family with vegetables mixed with noodles in a sour cream sauce.

The Herald Kitchen

By MILDRED HUSKINS

"Pease porridge hot, pease porridge cold."

Are you tired of prompting your family to finish their vegetables? Are you weary of always making the meatloaf in the loaf pan and having the family say, "aw, meatloaf again?"

Why not plan on serving this tasty Meatloaf in the Round, filled to the brim with scrumptious Peas 'N Noodles Supreme?

The well-seasoned meatloaf is so easy and economical to prepare that it will become a favorite in no time. Besides this dish is a meal in itself and is especially pretty to serve because the meatloaf is in the shape of a ring and the center features an attractive combination of tender, sweet green peas among noodles in a savory sour cream sauce. If this meatloaf recipe does not appeal to you, use your own but bake it in a seven-cup ring mold for a different approach to an old favorite.

Meatloaf In The Round
2 eggs, beaten.
3/4 cup milk.
2/3 cup fine dry bread-crumbs.
1/2 cup chopped onion.
1/2 cup catsup.
1 tablespoon prepared mustard.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon ground sage.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire Dash pepper.
2 lbs. ground beef.
Peas 'N Noodles Supreme
4 cups uncooked medium egg noodles.
1 can condensed golden mushroom soup.
1 can small sweet green peas, drained.
1 cup dairy sour cream.
Combine all ingredients except ground beef. Mix in ground beef. Pack mixture firmly into a 7-cup ring mold. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes. Drain off fat; invert onto serving plate. Fill center with Peas 'N Noodles Supreme. Garnish serving plate with sprigs of parsley and cherry tomatoes. Serves six to eight.

Cook noodles according to package directions; drain. Combine soup, water and peas; heat through. Add sour cream. Heat to serving temperature; do not boil. Fold gently into noodles.

Every good cook should have a quiche recipe in her repertoire. The one we're giving today is extra special because of its crust. Made with thawed patty shells instead of pie dough, this crust has layered effect and is a delectable foundation for the ham and egg puff filling. There is very little work to thawing the patty shells in the refrigerator and rolling them to a quarter inch thickness.

This quiche contains diced cooked ham. Perfect for some of that leftover Easter ham! Substantial for a luncheon or supper entree any time. Add a tossed salad, green vegetable and you have a real meal. Most quiches are baked in a pie plate. But look around. See if you can't find a flat dish with fluted sides or some other interesting container that can go directly from oven to table.

Arts Council Planning Series

Chowan Arts Council is sponsoring two spring arts series for in-school and evening entertainment.

On April 2 the College of the Albemarle Satyrs will present "Paul Green's Carolina" under the direction of Lucy Vaughan. Although his works are primarily about North Carolina's Cape Fear River Valley, Paul Green is known throughout the world as novelist, short story writer and playwright. Paul Green is widely known for his collection of folk lore and folk music. Much of the music used in "Paul Green's Carolina" is taken from the Frank C. Brown collection of Carolina Folk Music, to which Green contributed many of the stories. The COA artists singing Paul Green's folk lore are accompanied by guitars.

From East Carolina University's School of Music, the Brass Quintet—on April 23—will play late Renaissance, Baroque, Romantic and Contemporary Music. These performers have appeared throughout North Carolina on television, in recitals and in church programs.

Both programs, sponsored by the Chowan Arts Council, will be presented in the John A. Holmes Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

MAY BRIDE-ELECT—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Randolph Klages, Jr., of Suffolk, Va., announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Louise, to Robert Eugene Bulls. Mr. Bulls is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney W. Bulls of Edenton. Miss Klages is a graduate of Suffolk High School and is employed at the Economy Shoppe. The bridegroom-elect is a graduate of Chowan High School and is stationed at Pope Air Force Base. The wedding is planned for May 17.
