

BROAD STREET BULLETIN...

By Kate

Due to being admitted to Chowan Hospital at noon Tuesday of this week, I was unable to write this column. However, had my one hand not been connected to a glucose bottle, I would love to write a few lines extolling the wonderful treatment I am receiving by the hospital folks, and again thanking the Almighty for having so many wonderful friends. Here's hoping I'll soon be out of the hospital, but next to home, I don't know where I'd rather be.

Around Chowan County Farms

By R. M. THOMPSON, County Extension Chairman

If you have grain storage on your farm, now is a good time to start cleaning it up for storage this fall as it's only a few weeks until corn harvest will begin.

The first thing that should be done is for the bins to be cleaned thoroughly. Then spray the walls, floor and ceiling with 5 per cent E. C. Malathion at the rate of one per cent to three gallons of water or Methoxychlor E. C. at the rate of one quart to three gallons of water. This will take care of the eggs of insects that is left over from the previous years.

There are chemicals that can be applied around the bin that will control the grass and weeds that tend to flourish. Some of these chemicals will last for as long as two years. This also could be applied at this time.

When the grain is being put into the storage there are insecticides that can be put right on the grain that does a good job of holding down weevils. This will be discussed later, but now should be the time to clean up.

If you have the opportunity to take soil samples at this time, the fall of the year is good for applying lime. There are fields that are in the feed grain program that could be sampled now with the opportunity to get lime out in September or October that would be of real benefit next spring. The soil testing lab can run the test and get the results back in a few days so that whatever is needed for fall application could be done. Think about fall soil sampling as a possible time saver.

The hog cholera quarantine is still in effect in certain parts of Chowan County. The procedures for marketing these hogs in the quarantine area is still the same whereby they have to be inspected by a state or federal veterinarian. The request for inspection should be made two days ahead of the day you plan to sale.

If you have questions concerning the procedure for marketing hogs contact your County Extension Agent.
