Senior Citizens Meet

Edenton-Chowan Senior Citizens were joined by senior citizens from eight counties of the Economic Improvement Council sponsored senior citizens program on Saturday in attending the Fifth Annual Senior Citizens' Federation Day in Raleigh.

Dr. H. L. Mitchell of Gates County is chairman of the N. C. Federation of Senior Citizens. Mrs. Elizabeth Byrd is a member of the board of directors. Mrs. Willie Harvey is a member of the Advisory Council. Mrs. Inez Myles is the executive director.

The program included the presentation of platform by candidates for state offices. The 1976 Pageant of State impressive event. Mrs. Community Action gency, August 27.

was crowned the state queen of Senior Citizens by Gov. James Holshouser. Mrs. Ruby Spence of Pasquotank County was the pageant queen reprsenting the EIC area.

The guest speaker was William (Sonny) Walker, Services Administration, Region IV, Atlanta, Ga.

The senior citizens coordinator, and Earl Jones for their assistance.

Four Complete Individualized Studies

Albemarle's Individualized Instruction Center in Edenton is spotlighting four adults who have completed their high school education. Two students, Diane and Susan Stallings, have completed the Adult High School Diploma Program, and will be awarded diplomas from the Edenton-Chowan Board of Education this month.

The other two students. Cathryn Brown and Martin Parker, have completed the General Educational Development Program, and will receive their high school equivalency certificates from the State Board of Education.

Daine Lassiter completed her education while engaged in the Manpower Program. During this time, she worked part-time at a nonprofit organization, the Economic Improvement Council, and studied eight hours each week at the IIC. She was paid for both her part-time work and her study at the center. This enabled her not only to earn her high school diploma, but to gain valuable work experience as well.

Susan Stallings enrolled at the center last August, and finished her remaining high school requirements by the end of April. This was accomplished in spite of the fact that she was able to attend only a few hours each

Cathryn Brown, originally from Kentucky, moved to Edenton last summer and enrolled at the IIC shortly thereafter. It did not take her long to complete all five GED tests to qualify her as a high school graduate in April. She recently succeeded in obtaining the position of manager of Chowan Court Apartments. Martin Parker studied alternately at the IIC since 1969. He initially began with the AHD program. When the lack of time became a deciding factor, converted to th GED program, and was able to complete his five tests in three days' time.

Each adult who attends the IIC has different backgrounds and different needs, according to Mrs. Mary Partin, coordinator for the local unit. Once an adult makes the decision to attend the center, he must visit the center, which is located in the basement of Swain Auditorium, and discuss his needs with the coordinator. If he desires to complete his high school eudcation, the students is given three placement tests; one each in reading, grammar and mathematics.

Once scored, the tests are used to place the student in the areas in which he needs study. Therefore, individuals can work only in those areas in which they are weakest as they begin their GED program. When the student wishes to work toward completion of the AHD, his public school records are also used to determine his needs. Those desiring more information concerning the Manpower program can contact Mrs. Betty Dail at 482-4495. Anyone who is interested in learning more about the IIC, or who would like to enroll, may call Mrs. Partin at 482-4745.
