Medicare Assignment

The best way for a Medicare patient to be sure he will not have to pay a doctor charges in excess of the Medicare "reasonable charge" is to make sure in advance that the doctor (or medical supplier) will accept assignment of the bill. A doctor or supplier who accepts assignment agrees to accept the Medicare reasonable charge as the total payment for the service.

Under assignment, the bill is sent directly to Medicare for payment, rather than to you. Medicare pays 80 per cent of the reasonable charge for covered services, less any unpaid part of the $60 yearly deductible you haven't met. The doctor can charge you only for the remaining 20 per cent of the reasonable charge and for any services not covered by Medicare.

Reasonable charges are determined by the organization that handles Medicare medical insurance claims in this area. A reasonable charge for a particular service is based on actual charges for the service in the area in the previous year. The charges are reviewed and updated every year. Medicare does not limit the amount a doctor may charge a patient. The law does limit the amount that Medicare can pay for services.

If the doctor doesn't agree to assignment, Medicare insurance pays you 80 per cent of the reasonable charge after subtracting any part of the $60 deductible you haven't met. Under this payment to you method, however, the doctor does not have to accept the Medicare reasonable charge as the total payment or the covered service. You may get a bill for the service from your doctor for more than the Medicare reasonable charge.

Medicare is a federal health insurance program administered by the Social Security Administration. The Elizabeth City Social Security office is located at 111 Jordan Plaza. The telephone number is 338-2161. The office is open from 9:00 A. M. to 4:30 P. M. Monday through Friday.
