In the houses we build, a little energy goes a long, long way.

The time is rapidly approaching when utility bills may surpass your mortgage payment.

At Continental Homes, we build your home with many energy saving innovations. One example is a special optional insulation package developed by Continental's engineers, in conjunction with Owens-Corning. It's proved to offer a much higher degree of energy efficiency.

Because we build your home inside our huge plants, bad weather, labor availability and material shortages are not a problem. So we also save you considerably in construction cost and time.

At Continental Homes, we build your home to save energy. And a lot more.
