

Bath, North Carolina: A Town Where Time Seems To Stand Still

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of features prepared by the North Carolina Travel and Tourism Division designed for weekend travel. This story is on the "Down East" region's places of historical interest.)

Bath is North Carolina's oldest town. It was incorporated in 1705. There is a story that an evangelist, one George Whitfield, became unhappy with the town people of Bath. As he crossed the water leaving the town, he removed his shoes and shook the dust of Bath from his feet. He then pronounced a curse that the town would not prosper. Since then the town has burned twice, but it now prospers as a perfect reflection of the Colonial era.

Why not visit Bath and the surrounding "Down East" countryside this weekend? You will step back into Colonial history and the heritage of North Carolina.

Blackbeard is said to have married his thirteenth wife here, built a home, and roamed the waters for some six years, before meeting his death off the North Carolina coast. Talk of hidden treasure still surfaces.

Before Bath was established, the spot was inhabited by Indians who fished from the shores of the Pamlico River.

It's easy to turn back the clock in your mind as you walk through Bath. There are no crowds and no sense of urgency. The beauty and fragrance of camellias, azaleas and other plants and flowers are springtime treats.

Historic Bath is maintained as a state historic site, and several buildings that drip with history are open to visitors.

The Palmer-Marsh House, built in 1744, is a National Historic Landmark. It is an excellent example of early eighteenth century Carolina architecture, and one of the state's oldest remaining houses.

St. Thomas Episcopal Church is the earliest North Carolina church still in existence. The "Queen Anne Bell", located in a small English-type belfry, was purchased from Queen Anne's Bounty, a fund established by her in 1704 for church furnishings and charity. On the second Sunday in June, couples who were married in the church return to renew their vows during "Bride and Groom Day."

The Williams House, near St. Thomas Church, is also a fine example of early construction.

Historic Bath is open Tuesday through Saturday from 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M., and Sunday from 1:00 to 5:00 P.M. Admission fees are $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children.

An hour-and-a-half drive north of Bath is another picturesque and historic city, Edenton. Edenton is still a mirror of well-preserved eighteenth and nineteenth century homes.

The Barker House is the Visitor Center of Historic Edenton. The house was built about 1782. Thomas Barker, London agent for the colonies, lived here and his wife, Penelope, presided over the Edenton Tea Party on October 25, 1774, which was the earliest known instance of political activity by women in the American colonies.

The Cupola House (c. 1725), has been called "the best example of an existing wooden house in the Jacobean tradition." A vegetable garden at the back, and the formal garden in the front have been restored.

The Iredell House (c. 1776) was the home of colonial patriot James Iredell and the birthplace of James Iredell, Jr., governor of North Carolina from 1827 to 1828. The Chowan County Courthouse is in continuous use from the time it was built in 1767 until early 1960, when a new courthouse was completed. It is considered one of the finest Georgian courthouses in the south. St. Paul's Episcopal Church has the oldest charter in the state and is the second oldest church building in North Carolina. It was begun in 1736 and completed some thirty years later.

The Barker House Visitor

Center is the starting point for a guided tour of the town and a visit to five buildings. Tours are given Tuesday through Saturday from 10:00 A.M. to 4:30 P.M., and Sunday from 2:00 to 5:00. Admission prices are: adults $3.00, students $1.00; one building; adults $1.50, students 75 cents.

Somerset Place State Historic Site near Creswell is adjacent to Pettigrew State Park. The two are a perfect blending of the natural with the historic - a discovery of plantation life as it was long ago.

Somerset is on the edge of Lake Phelps, which was once known as the "Eastern Dismal", and for many years the region was called a "haunt of beasts".

Josiah Collins III began construction on the 14-room mansion in 1830. The Collins mansion was the gathering place of the plantation society.

Large gardens, lawns tree-bordered drives and walkways were laid out. "The buildings were so numerous that visitors often commented that the dwelling looked like a village," said one report.

The mansion is constructed of heart cypress cut on the plantation, and the design is similar to homes found in New Bern. The old carriage lane remains at Somerset Place, and it's easy to visualize carriages bringing visitors to the mansion many years ago.

Somerset Place is open from 9:00 to 5:00 P.M. Monday through Saturday and 1:00 to 5:00 P.M. on Sunday. Guided tours are furnished, and there is no admission charge.

Historic Hope near Windsor was the home of Governor David Stone. The Historic Hope Foundation has gone to minute detail to restore the home with precise detail. It was constructed about 1803, and combines elements from the early Georgian style with the Federal Period. The winter kitchen is one of the eye-catching attractions at Hope. Two walls of the library have floor to ceiling bookshelves which held the 1400 volumes listed in Stone's estate. Hope is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.; Sunday 2:00 to 5:00 P.M. Admission: adults $1.50, children 75 cents.

Another area of historical significance is Historic

Continued on 7-B

IN EDENTON — The Barker House (c. 1782), home of Thomas Barker, colonial agent in England and his wife Penelope, of Edenton Tea Party fame, is now the Visitor Center for Historic Edenton, North Carolina. (N. C. Travel and Tourism Division photo by Clay Nolen.)

HISTORIC LANDMARK — The Palmer-Marsh House at Bath, North Carolina, was the home of Colonel Robert Palmer, who prior to the American Revolution, was surveyor-general of North Carolina. The structure, a National Historic Landmark, is part of the Historic Bath State Historic Site. (N. C. Travel and Tourism Division photo by Clay Nolen.)

BINGO
EACH THURSDAY—8 P.M.
AT ST. ANN'S
CATHOLIC CHURCH
TWO JACKPOTS
$200<sup>00</sup> EACH

"Our Children Are Our Most Precious Asset"
— ELECT —
James E. Taylor
to the
Chowan County Board of Education
May 6, 1980

EXTRA STRENGTH
ASPIRIN FREE PAIN RELIEF
TYLENOL
100 CAPSULES
Reg. Price $5<sup>22</sup>
Our Price $4<sup>70</sup>
Mitchener's

HOLLOWELL'S ELECTRICAL SERVICE
ROUTE 3, EDENTON
ALVIN HOLLOWELL OWNER
(Licensed Electrician)
Call After 3:30 P.M.
PHONE 482-2608 FOR FREE ESTIMATES
NEW WORK CONTRACTOR OLD WORK REPAIRS

"I think the Gold Kist seed peanuts germinate better than any of the others."

R. A. Howell, Gatesville, North Carolina

"As far as I'm concerned, Gold Kist is the only one around here that has good seed peanuts. They germinate better than the others, usually better than they're tagged."

"The reason I know about Gold Kist peanuts is because I raise seed for them, and I know first hand all the attention they give to putting out a first class seed."

"As a grower, I have to meet the standards Gold Kist sets. Of course, they start me out right with the seed I plant. It's probably the best seed available. Then I have to be careful to keep my fields clean and free from disease. Both the state and Gold Kist check us out for that. And we can't follow peanuts with peanuts. We have to rotate every three years."

"At harvest we have to be careful we don't damage the nuts. They have to be dried right, too, so we have the proper moisture. From then on, the way Gold Kist handles and processes them does the rest. They know what they're doing, and that's what finally insures good seed for the farmer."

"All in all, I'd advise any farmer to do business with Gold Kist. They provide us with the best seed, give us help if we need it, and their marketing programs are really good. On top of all that we get a share in any profits they make. If you grow peanuts, what more could you want?"

GOLD KIST
CERTIFIED
SEED
PEANUTS

Battleboro, Como, Conway, Darlington, Edenton, Enfield, Gates, Gatesville, Hobbsville, Jackson, Roduco, Roxobel, Seaboard, Sunbury, North Carolina, Florence, South Carolina.

Services Held For Jordan

GREENVILLE — Francis A. (Cotton) Jordan, 53, died Saturday. Funeral services were held at 2 P.M. Monday in St. James United Methodist Church. Burial was in Pinewood Memorial Park.

Mr. Jordan was a former resident of Edenton and was active in Edenton United Methodist Church. The family moved to Greenville a short time ago.

Surviving is his wife, Mrs. Mary Alice Howard Jordan; two sons: Christopher and David Jordan, both of the home; and two daughters: Miss Mitzi Jordan of the home; and Miss Alison Jordan of Chapel Hill.

Committee Is Chosen

Governor Jim Hunt today named four distinguished area leaders to his statewide Campaign Steering Committee. The Committee is comprised of respected community leaders from across the state. They will help advise the Governor on local issues and concerns.

Serving are Gilliam Wood of Edenton; Mayor W. D. Cox and Jim "Catfish" Hunter of Hertford; and Mayor E. V. Wilkins of Roper.

Said Governor Hunt, "I'm very proud to have this outstanding group of citizens as my personal advisors during the campaign year. They represent a broad range of expertise and interests and I believe they will be very effective in pinpointing the needs of North Carolinians."

Co-chairing the Steering Committee are Senator Kenneth Royall, Jr. of Durham and Charlotte Mayor Eddie Cox.

CARQUEST AUTO PARTS STORES
PERFORMANCE SALE

Diacklock Headers
3000 Series. Economy and maximum performance in every set.
64.95
HEADER MUFFLERS 16.95

AUDIOVOX AUDIO MAX STEREO POWER GRAPHIC EQUALIZING AMPLIFIER
Max 60 watts RMS stereo output. Built-in fader control. Illuminated power level meter. Color coded wiring. Under dash installation.
64.95 #AMP-600

Muller Ignition SUPER WIRE
7 mm "Yellow" Silicone carbon or copper.
11.85

Holley 600 CFM 4-BARREL CARBURETOR
Highest quality custom engineered. For street or off-road.
84.95 #1850

VALVE COVERS
For small block Chev. Black kinkie finish or polished aluminum.
31.45 #241-47 #241-1

DEEP DISH AIR CLEANER
Polished Chrome.
#4340-14" 9.95
#4342-9" 14.95

Plasti-Kote "HOT PAINT"
Dries fast and keeps it cool up to 1200°F. 16 oz. Red, Black, White, Alum., Orange.
2.49

Hawk COMPUTERIZED DIGITAL RACING TACH
0-10,000 RPM. LED readout. For 4, 6 or 8 cyl.
Only 38.45 #805

Good at participating CARQUEST Auto Parts Stores thru Apr. 30, 1980.

EDENTON AUTO PARTS
West Queen Street Edenton, N.C.
Phone 482-2159
WE KNOW WHAT YOU MEAN WHEN YOU'RE TALKING PARTS.