Miss Small To Assume New Duties

The Newland Child Development Center has recently employed a new teacher. Miss Edith Rebecca Small of Edenton. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Small.

Miss Small graduated in June from East Carolina University in Greenville with a degree in child development. In addition, she was in several organizations on campus and also very active in her home church.

At the Newland Center, Miss Small will be responsible for the daily schedule of play and learning activities for 34 preschoolers. She is now planning the fall activities at the center and will greatly enrich the program, according to a spokesman.

"We feel very fortunate to have Miss Becky at our center and we welcome her to the community," it was stated.

Dr. Simmons Receives Award

Dr. F. M. Simmons Patterson, executive director of the Eastern Area Health Education Center, was honored by the Fifth District Dental Society this past weekend with its first Presidential Award.

According to Society President Kenneth W. Gibbs, D.D.S., Dr. Patterson was honored for his unique contribution to the society and to dentistry in general. This is the first time a person outside the dental profession has been so honored, he said.

A New Bern native, Dr. Patterson has been the executive director of Eastern AHEC and assistant dean of Continuing Education of the East Carolina University School of Medicine since 1975. A former director of the Cancer Control Program of the Comprehensive Cancer Center of the Duke University School of Medicine, he practiced general surgery in New Bern from 1952 through 1968.

The Fifth District Dental Society is comprised of dentists from 33 Eastern North Carolina counties.
