BUYING YOUR GLASSES

Buying a pair of glasses is an important expenditure. That's one reason why you should take your time in selecting the glasses you like best.

For starters, glasses won't be worth much unless the prescription is accurate. The lens has to be professionally made to your doctor's exact specifications.

You can look for bargains. That may save you money initially. But if your glasses aren't comfortable, if you have to select from only a few styles, or they aren't well-made, that's no bargain. You want glasses you can wear in comfort for a long time. Something so important, that you use every day at work or at home, deserves very careful consideration. Appearance is important to you.

want them to look good on you.

So when you get a new prescription for glasses, take your time in choosing the frames. Make sure you really like the style and color. And, most importantly, make sure they fit securely and comfortably.

THE VANILLA ICE CREAM CURE

Here's one cure for a dental problem that you are going to like! The medicine for the cure is vanilla ice cream. Discomfort after surgical curettage (scraping of the tissue deep under the gum) is normal. The tissues may bleed and there is a tendency for the area to swell.

The best home remedy for this problem is vanilla ice cream. Not strawberry, which has little seeds that can get into the area, nor chocolate, which contains cocoa, an irritant. Take some vanilla ice cream on a spoon and place it on the area. The cold of the ice cream acts as a styptic. It stops the leakage of tissues. It also limits swelling since cold helps reduce swelling after a dental procedure.

It is also more practical to place a spoonful of ice cream in your mouth than an ice bag. The butter-fat in the ice cream acts as an emollient as it flows in and soothes the area.

Ice cream also contains lecithin, which is a wetting agent. It helps the butterfat penetrate. There may be a slight initial shock from the cold ice cream, but the area will feel better immediately. By the way, you can swallow the ice cream.
