Other Moves

We have been so caught up in our own personal happenings of late that two other moves are tardy of being mentioned along the Public Parade. The law offices of Earnhardt & Busby are now in a new location on East Queen Street and Dr. James F. O'Leary has moved to the Earnhardt Building on West Eden Street.

Dr. O'Leary is engaged in the practice of medicine, with a speciality in surgery.

Although we believe editorial license carries greater weight than medical ethics, we will merely say we are glad Dr. O'Leary and his family have made this commitment to the community. They are an asset and we need more professionals and families like the O'Learys.

But we have a problem with the Earnhardt & Busby crowd. There hangs in a prominent place in our office (which includes only areas that can be seen) a "Complaint" from the firm. While we were somehwat proud of the damages sought, to wit, $1-million, their humor fell on one of our bad days, but we've enjoyed the joke.

Like the people on Cheapside, the Busbys -- Max and Charles -quickly found out that the Chowan County Courthouse had been relocated on North Broad Street. Since it is much easier for us to walk than move, we have stayed put. The law firm did otherwise.

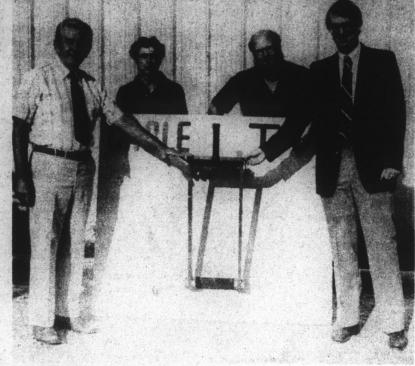

We challenged Max the other day about how he got his exercise since he was just across the street from the $2.5-million building the public built for lawyers to practice in. "I am still nailing shingles on the roof," he replied. Max and prother Charles have exerted blood, sweat, and probably, if the truth be known, tears in renovations at the East Queen Street location.

And there is something new coming to Cheapside about which we will have more to say later.

Not Keeping Up

Business along the Public Parade is not keeping pace with washington County across Albemarle Sound. Month-bymonth our neighbors to the south report greater retail sales, a good means to measure counties of almost equal size. The N. C. Department of Revenue distributed a total of $86,185.08 in Chowan County from the 1 per cent local option sales and use tax for the quarter ending June 30. At the same time, the Washington County total exceeded $100,000.

Cable TV Begins Service To Chowan-Perquimans Area

By Jeff Winslow

Cable T.V. has arrived in the Chowan-Perquimans area, thanks to Albemarle Cable. The selection to be found on this new cable circuit, ranges from sports, movies and news, to educational and children's programs

Located on U.S. 17 Business North, Albemarle Cable is a division of Compass Corporation, which was started in September 1980. The main office for Compass Corporation is located in Erie, Penn.

There are 25 channels on the new cable, 12 of which are transmitted by Albemarle Cable's 160foot tower here in Edenton. The other 13 channels are received via a satellite-to-earth system.

There are several things that separate cable T.V. from regular television programs. One unique feature is that on the cable there are different channels that pertain to one specific subject, such as sports, news or movies.

channels that show movies all day. such as HBO and Cinemax. These stations show full-length movies without commercial interruptions. Continued on page 4

Petition Filed For $47.2-Mil. In Added Funds For CT & T

TARBORO -Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company on August 27 filed a request with the N. C. Utilities Commission for a rate increase of about $47.2-million.

"If the request is granted, it would mean an increase of $3.40 a month for our smallest exchanges to $4.35 for our largest exchanges for basic local residential service," said Ted P. Williamson, vice president for Carolina Telephone. "We are not asking for an increase in telephone instrument rental charges.

"Meanwhile there may be an increase in statewide long distance rates. If such an increase is effective prior to a decision on our local rate increase, then we will not need as big an increase on local service rates. Revenues from long distance service has paid nearly one half of the cost of home telephone service for the past 20 yeas and any additional long distance revenues will reduce the size of our rate increase request," Williamson said.

The commission is expected to hold public hearings in early 1982 before ruling on the company's proposal, and rates are not expected to change before next year. Williamson said that the company's request includes increases in basic local service rates, installation and change charges, extended area service (EAS) rates, and other supplemental se ice and equipment rates and cha.ges.

Peanut Growers Assn. To Meet

David T. Bateman, president of the N. C. Peanut Growers Association, has announced the annual meeting of the association for September 10 at the Peanut Belt Research Station, Lewiston at 10 A.M.

Bateman, a peanut grower from Chowan County, said, "We are pleased to have our Association only half as much as it needed in its last request, Williamson said. The company proposed a $25.5million increase in August, 1980, and later reported that its new revenue needs had grown to $36.2million annually by the time the commission heard its cases in January, 1981. The commission granted Carolina Telephone an $18.4-million annual increase in April.

"We documented thoroughly that we needed increased revenues when our costs were rising rapidly, the cost of borrowing money was getting higher, and our long distance revenues were decreasing," Williamson said. "Yet while we were investing another $92-million during an unprecedented period of high interest rates, the commission pared us down almost in half which puts us farther and farther behind. Naturally, we had to come right back and request another increase."

The commission's April, 1981, order stated that Carolina Telephone should be allowed to earn 11.09 per cent on its service investment, but the company contends that the increases allowed were insufficient and that the allowable return is far below what any investor expects today.

Williamson said, "The rate case process which takes over a year puts Carolina Telephone far behind before prices can be raised and that it is nearly impossible for

In Tourism Either

Expenditures in North Carolina's travel and tourism industry in 1980 increased by 16 per cent to $2.4-billion, according to the recently completed survey. But not along the Public Parade.
