

Hospital Holds Mock Disaster Drill

"There's a bad wreck out here...cars all piled up...people hurt...out here by Dickerson Construction Company, off of 17 Bypass..." screamed a hysterical lady upon phoning the Chowan County Rescue Squad last Thursday morning. The county-wide mock disaster drill, coordinated by Chowan Hospital, had been put into effect.

The mock disaster drill was held to assess the hospital and county agencies' ability to handle a disaster. By identifying strengths and weaknesses of each participating agency, the county will hopefully be better prepared to handle a true disaster situation.

Thursday morning's mock drill consisted of a vehicle accident involving 21 victims. The injuries ranged from minor cuts and bruises to dead-on-arrivals at Chowan Hospital. The "victims" were hospital employees who proved to be excellent actors and actresses.

The wreck scene was set up by Carroll Smith of Northside Auto. Albemarle Motor Company, George Chevrolet, and Hoke Motor Company provided the wrecked cars. The emergency call to the Rescue Squad was phoned from the home of Mrs. Helen Overton.

County agencies participating in the drill were Chowan Hospital, Chowan County Rescue Squad Units 1, 2, and 3), Edenton Fire Department, Chowan County Sheriff's Department, and the Edenton Police Department. WCDJ and WBXB radio stations helped to free the citizens of Chowan County from alarm by broadcasting that the wreck was just a mock disaster drill.

This week, members from each participating agency will meet at Chowan Hospital to critique the overall disaster preparedness of the county.

Modernization Plan Begun

WINSTON-SALEM — Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc. of Boise, Idaho, has been retained to manage construction of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.'s 10-year plant modernization and expansion program, E. A. Horrigan, chairman and chief executive officer of the tobacco company, announced today.

Under terms of the contract, Morrison-Knudsen will provide program planning and management services during design and construction phases of the entire expansion program, projected to cost in excess of $1-billion.

The Reynolds Tobacco Co. program, announced last year, will include a 1.5-million-square-foot cigarette manufacturing plant north of Winston-Salem at Tobacoville; a 1.2-million-square-foot plant in downtown Winston-Salem; a 500,000-square-foot addition to its Whitaker Park plant in Winston-Salem; and other ancillary facilities. It will also include equipment modernization.

In addition to overall program management, Morrison-Knudsen will also be the construction manager for the Tobacoville plant, the first phase of the modernization and expansion program, Horrigan said.

More than 50 construction and specialty firms will be employed on the Tobacoville project, Horrigan said. "Many of these firms will be from the Winston-Salem area and this will provide a boost for the local economy," he said.

Construction is expected to begin on the Tobacoville site during the first half of 1983. The Whitaker Park plant expansion is scheduled to begin later that year with construction on the downtown Winston-Salem plant planned to begin in 1984.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., subsidiary of R. J. Reynolds Industries, Inc., manufactures Winston, Salem, Camel, Doral II, Vantage, More and NOW cigarettes, as well as a full range of chewing and smoking tobaccos.

4-H Achieves

Following all other clothing activities comes the Chowan County Fair. Here boys and girls display the garments they have constructed during the year.

In October all 4-H projects are to be completed and then judged for the best kept clothing record among the 4-H'ers.

A project selection guide sheet is used to help the 4-H'er decide on the project that is most suitable, according to interest and age.
