New Chairman Named By Hunt

RALEIGH — Glenn R. Jernigan, a Democrat and native of Fayetteville, was named on December 11, by Gov. James B. Hunt, Jr., to the position of chairman, Employment Security Commission (ESC) of North Carolina. Jernigan will assume leadership of the agency on January 1.

At the time of his appointment, Jernigan was representing the 10th Senatorial District (Cumberland County). Jernigan was duly elected to the N. C. Senate in 1975. He was appointed in 1979 to fill the unexpired term of Sen. John T. Henley. Senate committee appointments have included the Chairmanship of Election Laws and Manufacturing Labor and Commerce Committees as well as a seat on ten other committees.

Jernigan was born in LaGrange, April 10, 1939, to Claude J., Sr., and Lydia E. (Jones) Jernigan. His parents are now deceased. He was graduated Fayetteville High School, Campbell College and East Carolina University. Jernigan served in the U. S. Army Reserves.

Jernigan has been affiliated with seven professional or service organizations as well as the Board of Trustees for East Carolina University. He has received recognition and honors in five categories of community service and he has been listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Glenn Reginald Jernigan married Jane Clark Jernigan August 3, 1963. Their children, Lisa and Glenn, Jr., reside with them currently in Fayetteville. As a member of the Highland Presbyterian Church, Jernigan also serves as Deacon and Session Member, teaches Sunday School and functions in the Church Stewardship Committee.

Chairman Jernigan will head the seven-member Employment Security Commission, a budget of $58-million and approximately 2,500 employees who are located in a network of offices serving all 100 counties in the state.

Williamsburg Tours Slated

Williamsburg Inn, Lodge Cascades or Golden Horseshoe Clubhouse will provide sustenance. In addition shoppers in Merchant Square will discover "A Good Place To Eat" that promises quick counter service along with the delicious ice cream made by Colonial Williamsburg.

Music of the colonial period is heard daily throughout the area during the holiday period. Concerts are given at the Chapel of the Wren Building at the College of William and Mary, at historic Bruton Parish Church, and the Governor's Palace and Capitol periodically throughout the season. Both the junior and senior members of the famous Fife and Drum Corps perform regularly and carolers are throughout the area in the evenings. A special holiday phone number — 229-0781 will give information 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. daily about all holiday events and the availability of tickets.

A stop at either Tarpley's or the Prentiss stores will provide a chance to pick out an unusual gift for a "stocking stuffer" or give a glimpse into the merchandise stocked by generally outlets of the period. The fragrance is also memorable thanks to the array of spices, tobacco, coffee and pomanders on the shelves.

The trip homeward will be a peaceful one as passengers recall the sights, sounds and scents of Christmases past and the anticipation of Christmases yet to come.
