

Cofield Completes Basic Training

Army and Air Force Hometown News—Sec. Lt. Freddy A. Cofield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Holley, Route 1, Edenton has completed a field artillery officer basic course at the U. S. Army Field Artillery School, Fort Sill, Okla.

During the course, students gain proficiency in artillery techniques and are introduced to new weapons and doctrine.

Cofield is a 1981 graduate of N. C. A&T State University, Greensboro.

Registration Changes Noted

Beginning January 1, all applications for vehicle registration and vehicle registration renewal must contain a certification statement, according to Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) officials. A specific place on the vehicle registration application form for these certification statements will be provided.

The vehicle owner must certify that he holds liability insurance coverage by listing the name of the insurance company and policy number. He must also certify that there are no ad valorem (property) taxes owned on the vehicle. Finally the owner must certify that he was the legal owner on January 1 of the year of the title registration by naming the county in which the vehicle is registered for property taxes and also the month and the year that this vehicle is listed for tax purposes.

"The listing of the county, month, and year is a partnership effort with the counties so each county can be assured its taxes will be collected in a timely fashion," remarked J. M. (Bill) Penny, acting commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

DMV officials encourage vehicle owners to complete these certification requirements on the application in order to avoid unnecessary delays. "Since our aim is to provide prompt, efficient service, we're asking that the owner pay careful attention to the requested information on the application. However, should he inadvertently forget to supply the proper information, the title will be returned with a request that these certified statements be sent to us," commented Penny.

Also — Effective January 1, it becomes mandatory to write-in the accurate odometer reading on all N. C. vehicle title applications at the time of transfer. In a concerted effort to work with the public on the new ruling, Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) officials designated December as a trial and error month for those vehicle owners applying for titles in December.

In a random sampling of odometer compliance ratios done by DMV statisticians in December, approximately 72 per cent of those applying for titles in December listed the odometer readings on the form. Penny commented that this figure represented a fair percentage of voluntary compliance.

"If the odometer reading is listed in the space provided on the application, then we can process the application in a more prompt, efficient manner," continued Bill Penny. "After all, we are here to assist the public in the buying and selling of vehicles, and this simple procedure of writing in the odometer reading will assure everyone of a high success rate in the processing and delivery of titles," remarked Penny.

The inclusion of odometer readings on title and application forms is designed to protect the consumer from individuals and automobile dealers who take unfair advantage of purchasers by altering odometer readings, according to Penny.
