

PTA Meeting

The Chowan Junior High School PTA will meet in the school auditorium on Thursday at 7:30 P.M. Sheriff Troy Toppin will present a program of interest to parents of teenagers. All parents and interested citizens are urged to attend.

Conference Day

Realizing the importance of communication between parents and teachers, the Edenton-Chowan Board of Education has for several years established two Parent-Teacher Conference days in the school system's annual calendar. February 5 marks the second and last such day during this school year. Students will not attend school on the day set aside for parents and teachers.

The upcoming conference day marks the end of the third six weeks and the first semester grading period. At this point, parents are encouraged to make appointments with their children's teachers to discuss any school concerns, academic or otherwise. Teachers will be available to answer questions and to offer suggestions for help if requested.

Letters from each school have been sent to parents by students with directions for setting up appointments.

The Agricultural Extension Service is sponsoring a number of events in the county and across the state this month that you will want to put on your calendar.

Young Chowan County farmers who want to exchange ideas with other young farmers from across North Carolina can do so in Greensboro on February 19-20.

These are the dates for the North Carolina Young Farmer Forum, sponsored by the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service and the N. C. Farm Bureau Federation. The forum has been planned with the help of 10 young farmers from across the state and should zero in on the needs of people who have most of their farming careers ahead of them.

Topics will include such things as marketing, money management, energy and computers. Speakers will include John Sledge, president of the N. C. Farm Bureau, and J. E. Legates, dean of the School of Agriculture and Life Sciences at N. C. State University.
