

Hunt Wins Trade Award

GREENVILLE -- Governor Jim Hunt today received the first annual World Trade Award from the Coastal Plains Chapter of the North Carolina World Trade Association. Chapter President Bob Mills presented the award to Hunt during the Chapter's meeting in Greenville.

"We at the Association have begun this awards program to bring recognition to those who have done the most to promote world trade in North Carolina," Mills said. "In light of Governor Hunt's record, I think it is particularly appropriate that he has been selected as the first recipient of this honor."

In accepting the award, Hunt said, "I believe that North Carolina has just scratched the surface of its foreign trade potential. In the last few years we have laid the foundations that can make our manufacturers very competitive abroad. That effort will pay rich dividends in the years to come."

North Carolina's role as a partner in world trade has grown substantially since Hunt took office in 1977.

The yearly value of exports by North Carolina manufacturers has more than doubled in the last five years, rising from $2.2 billion in 1976 to more than $4.5 billion in 1981. In addition to these direct exports, the state's manufacturers produced more than $3.2 billion worth of goods in 1981 that were eventually exported as parts of other products.

Foreign investment in North Carolina has also grown significantly in the last five years. Foreign investments in new and expanding industry since 1977 total more than $748 million, nearly three times the value of foreign investments announced during the last five years will ultimately lead to the creation of more than 11,700 new jobs.

Among the recent overseas firms announcing major investments in the state is Takeda Chemical Industries of Japan. Takeda is planning a new $10 million manufacturing facility near Wilmington.

Other recent announcements include Baker Perkins Incorporated's plans for a new $6.5 million plant at Rocky Mount and multi-million-dollar expansions by Burroughs-Wellcome at Greenville and Texas Gulf at Aurora.

Governor Hunt has established North Carolina foreign trade offices in Tokyo and Osaka, Japan and hired a full-time representative to promote the state's ports among Japanese and other Far East shipping lines.

TOBACCO COURSE HELD — Frankie Parrish, center of Chowan County is one of 53 young tobacco farmers who attended a Tobacco Short Course conducted by the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service with the assistance of a grant-in-aid from Philip Morris, USA. Mr. O. Witcher Dudley, III, Vice president, Leaf, Philip Morris, USA, (left) and Dr. J. E. Legates, Dean, School of Agriculture and Life Sciences, (right) presented certificates to those who completed the four-day course. The group made an all-day bus trip to Richmond, Virginia, to visit the Philip Morris leaf processing, manufacturing, and research facilities. All other sessions were held at the McKimmon Center on the North Carolina State University campus in Raleigh.

Veeco North Anna Unit Is Removed From Service

Virginia Electric and Power Company's North Anna Power Station 2 was removed from service Sunday morning for regularly scheduled refueling and spring maintenance.

Completion of the refueling and maintenance in about 10 weeks will permit the unit to return to service for the peak summer air conditioning season. North Anna 2 has been operating on its current fuel load since Dec. 14, 1980 when it began commercial operation.

Since then the unit has operated at a 76 per cent average capacity factor. Capacity factor measures the productivity of a generating unit.

A nuclear unit operating at full power every hour of the year would have a capacity factor of 100 per cent - an unattainable level since all units require periodic shutdowns for inspection, maintenance and refueling. The national average nuclear unit capacity factor in 1981 was about 60 per cent compared with 73 per cent for North Anna 2 in 1981.

Veeco's nuclear units supplied 42 per cent of customers' total energy supply in 1981. Nuclear generation is expected to provide 47 per cent of customers' electricity needs in 1982.

Increasing the shares of electricity supplied from more economical nuclear units has allowed Veeco for three successive years since 1980 to reduce or hold unchanged the fuel charge to Virginia retail customers. All three of Veeco's other nuclear units are operating.

James Monroe, in his second presidential election, won an electoral vote of 237 to 1. The single dissent was cast by a New Hampshire delegate to preserve for Washington the honor of a unanimous election.

In a community that depends on agriculture, a lot of people depend on me.

That's because I'm the local representative for All-Risk Crop Insurance. Insurance that protects farmers against natural disasters such as drought, flood, wind, insects, disease and more than one hundred others. Insurance that can save farmers when disaster strikes.

And that's good for our community's economy. Because with All-Risk Crop Insurance behind them, local farmers can still be buyers of other people's goods even when they can't be sellers of their own.
