Volunteer Spirit Displayed

RALEIGH Secretary of Human Morrow is elated over the volunteer spirit displayed by North Carolina citizens during the recent drive to distribute more than one million pounds of U.S. Department of Agriculture surplus cheese to over 500,000 low - income persons in all 100 counties of the state.

"This has to be one of our largest volunteer efforts in North Carolina," Dr. Morrow said. "Based on information from across the state, thousands of citizens of all ages representing churches, schools, civic and business organizations rolled up their sleeves to help county social services departments deliver the surplus cheese to needy familities."

Dr. Morrow cited the surplus cheese project as an excellent example of what volunteers can achieve in assisting state government to serve the people of North Carolina. "Governor Hunt's administration has put a strong emphasis on volunteerism because the more people who care and become involved, the more we can accomplish. Governor Hunt practices what he preaches by taking time out from his busy schedule each week to serve as a volunteer tutor in the Wake County schools."

"On behalf of the Governor and the Department of Human Resources, I would like to simply say a heartfelt thank you to the N.C. thousands of volunteers who lent a helping hand to ensure Resources Dr. Sarah T. that this nutritious cheese was served on the dinner tables of hungry families.' Dr. Morrow concluded by stating that "the volunteer tradition of people helping has never been more important than it is today. Volunteerism in North Carolina is making it possible to continue quality people programs - even with severe budget cuts."

Dip For Dogs

SNOW HILL, N.C. - A North Carolina firm has been the first approved by EPA to market a dip for dogs containing ingredient that's been used for years on sheep and cattle in Australia.

Happy Jack, Inc. of Snow Hill, N.C. spent two years and approximately $50,000 to obtain approval for the manufacture and sale of the new dip that protects canines against fleas, ticks and mange mites.

According to Happy Jack vice president, Joe Exum, the preparation has several specific benefits to users. "This dip contains no lindane," said Exum, "nor Americans often complain Today, each of those 3.7 about food prices; it's their inherent right. But, they seldom have to complain about the food shortages that are so much a part of the everyday life in many countries.

Facts About Food Prices

Here are some of the things that are often taken for granted by the average consumer: The average American family spends 16.6 percent of its disposable income on food today, well below the 17.2 percent of a decade ago or the 20 percent of two decades ago. It's also well below the 60 to 70 percent for food in many other countries.

A half century ago, we had 61/2 million farms that were operated by 13 million farmers and farm workers. Those farms averaged 145 acres. Today, we have less than 2.3 million farms, operated by 3.7 million farmers and farm workers. The farms average 450
