Brushing With Braces

CHARLOTTE - A Colorado management consultant recently told 157 North Carolina orthodontists that patients who learn about nutrition and a good diet do better at cleaning their teeth while wearing braces.

O.A. (Bud) Ham, Parker, Co., spoke to the annual scientific meeting here of the North Carolina Association of Orthodontists. Noting that good oral hygiene is especially important for persons in braces, he said that patients who understand nutrition will brush better.

Ham also said that orthodontic treatment often works best for patients who assume the most responsibility for following the orthodontist's instructions. Orthodontics is not a short-time treatment process. The highly-motivated patient will respond best to treatment in the long-run, he said.

A New Dip For Dogs

does it contain malathion which gives off such an unpleasant odor. The dip, however, does contain D-phen R as a new active ingredient. Since the ingredient has never been used in a dip, fleas, ticks and mites have no genetic immunity to it," he said, "and tests have demonstrated dramatic results."

Since parasites have no inherent immunity to the dip's active ingredient, its effectiveness is longer lasting than previous preparations, said Exum.

You won't have to wash your dog as often at the height of the season, maybe just once every four or five weeks depending on the animal. Such residual action is essential not only to keep fleas off the dog but also out of the home," he said.

Packages in dark green with white lettering, Happy Jack's Duracide Dip for Dogs is available now at independent farm, feed and drug stores.

A family - owned firm, Happy Jack, Inc., has been in the dog remedy business for 36 years. In addition to distribution of its merchandise through retail outlets, the company has an extensive catalogue business with mailing to all 50 states, the Virgin Islands, West Indies, Puerto Rico and Taipei, Taiwan.
