Sans Moderation

The folks at Edenton United Methodist Church are throwing moderation out the window Saturday as they have put together a full range of activities to benefit the Sanctuary Building Fund.

The United Methodist Women are sponsoring a yard and bake sale. This portion of the program will begin at 8:30 A.M. and conclude at 2 P.M. In addition to the usual yard sale items, the women will provide baked goodies for sale.

Also on Saturday, the United Methodist Men will have a fish fry. Hot fish plates, with all the trimmings, will be available from 11 A.M. until 7 P.M. Trout will be featured and arrangements are being made to have tables available for those who would like to eat and shop the yard sale.

The Methodists hope soon to begin construction of Phase II of an ambitious building program. When the new sanctuary is completed the congregation will have property valued at nearly $1,250,000 out on Virginia Road. Regardless of the denomination, this in itself is a sign of not doing things in moderation along the Public Parade.

Watch The Pros

The Edenton Aces' credit in the pro football ranks continues. People along the Public Parade will be following three teams with a local flavor.

Zack Valentine has earned one Super Bowl ring for himself with the Pittsburgh Steelers. And while his team has sputtered somewhat in the past couple of seasons, Zack has been right in the middle of some fine action.

Another Edenton Aces star out of East Carolina University is Willie Holley. Willie chose to play initially outside the U. S. Now, however, he has been asked to work out with the Washington Redskins.

Robert Brown is the most recent local to hit the big time in football. Dr. Lloyd L. Hobbs, our informant up in Blacksburg, Va., reports that Robert was tabbed by the Green Bay Packers in the third round of the National Football League draft recently.

Robert, a star defensive end for Virginia Tech during the past two years, was a menace to opposing runners making 116 tackles, 25 of them for losses totaling 169 yards.

Robert was a transfer to Coach Bill Dooley's Hokies from Chowan College in Murfreesboro. He is expected to play outside linebacker for Coach Bart Starr.

Having a definite local flavor will make watching the pros more enjoyable.

Expressions

To "live like a pig," or "eat like a pig," or "as dirty as a pig" are three of the most used expressions in the English language. Pigs do grunt when they eat, and they get their noses in their food, but their living situations have greatly improved over the times when they wallowed around in a mud hole.

A visitor to a modern hog farm will see pigs housed in buildings worth more than a hundred thousand dollars, and that's more than the worth of a lot of our

MAY PLAY DAY — On May 1, the Chowan Arts Council, Rocky Hock Community Center and the Edenton - Chowan Optimist Club combined forces to produce May Play Day, a day of varied activities, entertainment and exhibits in celebration of spring. The Rocky Hock Rebels, above, and several other musical groups provided continuous listening enjoyment.

Blood Consumption Increase Noted

North Carolina and Virginia hospitals in the Tidewater Region of the Red Cross Blood Services have seen an average increase of 12.5 per cent in blood consumption during the first three months of this year over last year's hospital usage.

This increased requirement is directly related to an increase in surgeries and the fact that many area residents are not traveling outside the region to seek medical treatment. Because many area hospitals have undertaken more specialized treatment in the past year, residents can now stay within the area to receive medical treatment.

Consumption by the 57 hospitals in the region requires that 460 units of blood be collected daily to meet needs. Particularly necessary to meet increasing demand by the hospitals is blood type O. Current statistics for this region indicate that the average donor gives blood 1.3 times each year, but is eligible to do so up to five times during the year.

Harrington To Run For Re-Election

Sen. J.J. (Monk) Harrington announces his candidacy for re-election for the new Second Senatorial District at 11 A.M. on May 6.

In a news release, Sen. Harrington stated that he is most concerned, not only for the people that he has represented for the last 20 years, but also for the people in the new townships of Halifax, Edgecombe and Martin Counties.

If re-elected, Sen. Harrington has indicated that all people can rest assured that they will be represented fairly in Raleigh. The Sen. further stated that he has tried to serve all of the people to the best of his ability.

The Sen. plans to visit and meet with the people involved in the new districts in the near future.

Sen. Harrington was assured of re-election to another two-year term when the filing deadline passed Friday without another candidate entering the race.

Correction

The staff at the Chowan Herald regret the errors concerning Billy R. Nixon in the article on the upcoming election. The article should have read as follows:

Billy R. Nixon, who lives in Center Hill with his wife, Mary Privott Nixon, and their two children, is a farmer in the Center Hill Community.

A graduate of Chowan High School and COA, he served four years in the U.S. Air Force, with two tours of duty in Vietnam.

Nixon is a member and captain of the Center Hill - Crossroads Fire Dept., member and president of the Farmer Pest Management Service, member of the Board of Directors of Albemarle Electric Membership Corp., and a member and President of the Chowan County Agricultural Advisory Committee.

Past honors for Nixon include Outstanding Young Farmer in 1979 and 1980. He is also a football and baseball coach for the Midget League at the Edenton - Chowan Recreation Dept.

Bass Earns His Medical Degree

GREENVILLE — The East Carolina University School of Medicine graduated 36 physicians last week, the second class of students to receive their medical education at the state's newest medical school.

All of the students are from North Carolina. Six members of the class are women, and three are minorities. Among the graduates was William Thomas Bass of Edenton. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bass, Route 3.

In July the new physicians will begin residency training in 11 specialties at 25 hospitals across the country. More than half the class selected primary care disciplines for postgraduate training and future medical practice. Dr. Bass will intern in pediatrics at Pitt Memorial Hospital here and will remain in Greenville for three to five years of study.

The students were honored at the medical school convocation ceremony May 7 and received their diplomas during ECU commencement exercises May 8.

Last year medical degrees were awarded to the 28 students in the charter class at the medical school. This fall the school will have 200 students in the medical education program and nearly 100 residents in postgraduate training.

MR. UGLY NO. 3 — The antics of Wilson Miltier, better known as "Mr. Ugly No. 3", provoked giggles wherever he went at the recent May Play Day celebration. Numerous displays and exhibitions were abundant throughout the day.

Phone Shop Has New Number

EDENTON—Carolina Telephone is establishing a new telephone number for its business customers in Edenton, Piney Woods and Welch who want to reach the Phone Shop - business office in Elizabeth City.

Business customers should call 338-1595 instead of 338-9811 to place an order for service or request a change in existing service.

Residential customers should continue to call 482-4493 to make service requests.

Terry Daniels, district commercial and marketing manager, said, "We have separate telephone numbers for our business and residential customers so that we can handle their calls for service requests more efficiently."

However, residential and business customers should continue to call 482-4493 to seek billing information.

The new Phone Shop - business office number also appears in the updated Carolina Telephone directory which customers in this area have received.
