Edenton Woman's Club Meeting

The May meeting of the Edenton Woman's Club was held at the home of Ann Matteson. The major topic of business dealt with a cross-stitch quilt the Woman's Club is making which will be raffled in the fall. The theme of the quilt is Historic Edenton and North Carolina in general. Along with the quilt raffle the club will be having a tasting luncheon to coincide with the new edition of our cookbook.

It was decided that the Woman's Club will institute a School and Community Service Award to an outstanding Holmes High School senior. The student will be chosen for his or her scholastic achievements, extra curricular participation and community involvement.

Annette Wood was our guest speaker for the May meeting. She gave a most informative talk on her recent trip to South Africa. The culture, geography and people made South Africa a truly wonderful area to visit she concluded.

A new member, Mona Griffin, was welcomed by all. The Edenton Woman's Club extends an invitation to anyone interested in joining.

The meeting adjourned with the Mary Stewart Collect.

LIONS CLUB SERVICES HONORED — Participants at the Volunteer Recognition Banquet honoring clubs and individuals who work with the blind and visually impaired were from right Earl Jennings, state director; Betz Ricks, social worker, and Mack Worley, regional director.

Edenton Lions Club Is Honored For Services

The Edenton Lions Club was honored recently for their services to the blind and visually impaired at the first Volunteer Recognition Banquet sponsored by the Hertford County Visually Impaired Group in Winton.

Earl Jennings, state director of the Division of Services for the Blind, spoke at the banquet honoring clubs and individuals from Hertford, Gates and Chowan Counties. Fifty certificates were presented by Betz Ricks of Edenton and Judy Nooney of the Regional Office in Greenville. Miss Ricks, who is Social Worker for the Blind in the three counties, gave the welcome and presided at the banquet.

Jennings cited the important role that volunteers serve in assisting in the school visual screening programs, providing transportation for clients, and assisting in rehabilitation of persons in adjusting to the loss of vision.

He stated that the goal of the state agency are to prevent blindness and restore sight, helping the visually impaired live independently and rehabilitation to provide counseling and training for employment.

Jennings, who is visually impaired, was at one time a client of the agency he now heads. He said, "When I lost my sight, I didn't know what I was going to do." He added, "But there was the state agency to help."

J. A. Holmes Students Compete In Typing Contest

Marion Jones and Rhonda Mizelle, second-year typing students and Angela Lewis and Danny Hogan, first-year typing students from John A. Holmes High School competed in the 31st annual Typewriting Contest at East Carolina University in Greenville on March 17, 1982.

The event, sponsored by the Department of Business Education and Office Administration at ECU, brought together outstanding typing students and their teachers from central and eastern North Carolina. Over 260 students competed by demonstrating their skills in timed writing, production work, and typing theory.

Grace Byrum, business education teacher at John A. Holmes High School, is the students' instructor.

Birthday Luncheon Held

Pi Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, held its Birthday and Founders' Day luncheon in Elizabeth City on May 1. A silent tribute was expressed in memory of past state treasurer, Ida Belle Moore. Recognition was given the Chapter's first Recruitment Grant Scholarship recipient, Lu Ann Jordan of Edenton.

E. J. Buckingham honored Pi Chapter's charter members: Mabel Evans Jones, Lena Jones and Mary Lee Copeland. President Buckingham presented hand-painted china tea bag holders to past presidents of Pi Chapter. Those persons are: Mabel Evans Jones, Mary Lee Copeland, Minnie Hollowell, Thelma Elliott, Margaret Maston, Helen Evans, Milah Meekins, Emily Jackson, Marjalene Thomas, and Mary Alexander.

New officers for 1982 - 84 were installed: president, Jean Newell; first vice president, Jeannie Meiggs; second vice president, Mary MacDonald Holmes; recording secretary, Ruth Winslow; corresponding secretary, Camille Everton.

Fannie Newbern presided at the business meeting. A musical program was presented by the Blackwell Memorial Ladies Handbell Choir.

Madge Van Horn gave the devotions. Camille Everton, Bernice Callaway and Erma Turner were co-hostesses for the "Pasquotank A" committee.

The next meeting of the Pi Chapter will be October 9 with the hostess committee being members from Dare and Currituck counties.

Infection Following Surgery

If you undergo any kind of an operation in a hospital, you normally spend time in "recovery" where you are carefully cared for to insure no "post-op" infection develops. A dentist does not have this luxury (nor does the patient). If a surgical procedure is done (such as an extraction), the patient normally leaves the office with verbal or printed instructions about what to do or not to do to prevent infection and promote healing. If you ignore the instructions, you may be flirting with the possibility of post-procedure infection.

Signs of infection would be pain, swelling, and perhaps a feverish feeling. Swelling after surgery doesn't necessarily mean you have an infection, as some swelling is normal. But if it keeps getting bigger, feels warm and firm and is painful, see your dentist immediately.

He may put you on an antibiotic, or he may have to open and clean out your wound. Do not take the attitude that it will probably get better by itself. It may, but if it doesn't, it's going to be harder and longer to treat later.

Checkups - How Often

How often should you get an eye examination? There are only two people who can answer that question. One is your eye doctor. The other is you.

People who know they have vision problems probably should see their eye doctor at least once a year. This is usually recommended for children and young people whose bodies are still growing and changing. Once they reach adulthood and their eye problems seem to be under control, some people are content to see their eye doctors every other year. Those middle-aged and beyond usually go back to the once-a-year schedule.

Frankly, much depends on your particular eye problem or whether you're bothered by eye strain or headaches. Most people, too, can recognize changes in their vision. Seeing objects clearly at a distance or close up may become more of a problem. Perhaps the words in a book are becoming more blurred at your normal reading distance.

These are just some of the symptoms that tell you a checkup is needed.

Just one minute

Just one lousy minute composed of 60 seconds... not a big lot of time, either. But a lot can happen in one minute...

A football team can score to win...

You can travel a mile in one minute at 60 mph...

You can make a decision that will change your life...

Life is made up of minutes run together... One minute after you die... where will your eternal soul be?

In this particular minute, the minute it takes to read this... will you make a decision that could affect the rest of your life?

The decision? To attend church this Sunday! Put something eternal into your life! One minute after you die you'll be glad you did!
