

Phelps Termite & Pest Control New Hope Rest Haven

Earl Phelps - Owner

For positive, safe, expert termite and pest control, many homeowners, apartment complex owners, store and shop managers and factory superintendents have come to know and rely on Phelps Termite & Pest Control, the pros over at 417 El Sunoco Drive in Elizabeth City, where only the pests get a bad deal.

Termite colonies systematically, almost militarily, destroy millions of dollars worth of property each year. Phelps Termite & Pest Control has years of experience in dealing with these pests and also will rid your property of rats, mice, fleas, silverfish, waterbugs, spiders and moths.

Call 338-3230 any time, or drop by at the office and within a short time, an exterminator will come by your home or business, assess your needs and quote you an estimate which will match your final bill.

The editors of this Consumer Business Guide give Phelps Termite & Pest Control our complete recommendation.

The Recovery Shop

Debra Jones & Elsie Dowdy Owners

If you're looking for a practical way to fight inflation, DON'T throw out that worn couch or chair you've become ashamed to let people see in your living room. Save dollars by having it professionally upholstered!

Smart homeowners in this area have found that a good way to fight inflation is to let the experts at The Recovery Shop completely refurbish that furniture piece.

Located at 204 Sir Walter Raleigh Street in the Evans Building in downtown Manteo, phone 473-5336, these professional upholsterers feature a large number of beautiful fabrics to enhance literally any decorator scheme. Let them upholster your furniture, auto or boat and you'll see why leading interior decorators consider The Recovery Shop to be the area's finest upholstery shop.

Remodeling and restyling - these craftsmen do it ALL. The editors of this Consumer Business Guide urge you to stop a moment before investing money in new furniture. Save money by letting the pros at The Recovery Shop restore that lost beauty in your furniture.

UHT Milk

RALEIGH -- North Carolina became the first state in the country to adopt regulations supporting and promoting the sale of Ultra-High Temperature (UHT) milk as the result of a vote by the N. C. Board of Agriculture meeting here recently. By its action, the board said it hoped to increase the sale of milk to the American public as well as increase the availability of Grade A milk as an export commodity.

Much of the research in developing UHT milk was done at N.C. State University.

According to state Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham, UHT milk differs from traditional pasteurized fresh milk in several ways. The most important is the storage life of the product. Normal shelf life of fresh milk is a week to ten days under refrigeration, but the unopened UHT product will remain stable at room temperature for an extended period. Once it is opened and refrigerated, the shelf life resembles that of fresh milk.

Consumer tests reveal only slight differences in
