

Officials Visit Schools; Observe Campaign Results

OBSERVES STUDENTS—School Board member Thomas Paul Griffin recently paid a visit to Swain and Walker Schools to observe, first-hand, student participation in the "Courtesy is Contagious Campaign."

CONGRATULATIONS—Dr. John Dunn, Edenton-Chowan school superintendent, congratulates Sarah White, substitute teacher, and Lilly Ford, student, on the progress of their "courtesy campaign".

Dr. John Dunn, Superintendent and Mr. Thomas Paul Griffin, local School Board Member recently visited each and every classroom in Swain and Walker Schools. They were happy to find that each class is actively involved in the new "Courtesy Is Contagious" campaign.

The "Courtesy Is Contagious" program is being emphasized throughout the 1982-1983 school year in the school system, town of Edenton and Chowan county. The courtesy theme stresses courtesy to our nation's flag, our country, courtesy to adults and courtesy to students.

Each school is participating in the courtesy campaign with many activities. The principals of each school report the following activities.

1. White Oak Elementary School (K-5) Etheridge Ricks, Principal. An assembly is held every week featuring the students marching in with the American flag. Students are learning how to sell items in a courteous manner. Students are learning all aspects of courtesy.

2. Edenton - Chowan Alternative School - Clara Boswell, Principal. The initials for the Alternative School are E.C.A.S. These initials during the 1982-1983 Courtesy Campaign stand for Each Courtesy Act Spreads. It is reported that two students picked up two garbage cans full of trash from the school grounds on the day after the Labor Day

Holiday without being asked. This is certainly a significant act of courtesy. These two students want the campaign to be a success. Success depends on the second letter.

3. Ernest A. Swain Elementary School (4-6) Gilliam Underwood, Principal. The Student Council featured patriotic songs at the beginning assembly. A selection is being made on a regular basis for the most Most Courteous Student in each class. A formal courtesy display is featured in each classroom. The use of courteous language such as please, thank you, etc. is being emphasized. Starting the last of this month, a special color guard from each class will raise the flag at Peoples Bank, County Jail, Courthouse and Post Office.

4. D.F. Walker School (K-3) Ralph Cole, Principal. Courtesy slogans appear in each classroom featuring the use of bright colorful materials. All teachers staff are acting as models in the Courtesy Campaign. The American Flag is being raised each morning by the students. A King and Queen of Courtesy is elected each day and rewarded by being first in line for events and also by wearing a crown of achievement.

5. Chowan Junior High School (6-8) John Guard, Principal. Every classroom features a display depicting Courtesy. The opening assembly emphasized the A, B, C's of the school year Accreditation, Beautification and Courtesy. An American flag has been purchased for each classroom. A very positive approach is being used during the school year with many items of good news going home to parents. The use of courtesy as a counseling technique is being emphasized. The cheerleaders made posters

6. John A. Holmes High School (9-12) Robert Boyce, Principal. The climate committee of last year is working with this year's courtesy committee to accomplish a coordinated effort. Every classroom features a poster showing the Five Expectations for Classroom Success which are: 1) dress appropriately, 2) be on time, 3) be prepared for classwork, 4) take an active part in the lesson and 5) refrain from disrupting the class. During each six weeks period, a winner who lives by these expectations will be selected. For a student to win this recognition, their name must be submitted by all of their teachers. Each winner will be rewarded by being allowed to go first to lunch, receiving free admission to school events and receiving free treats donated by Hardees of Edenton. The initial assembly featured the Do's and Don'ts in dress for school. A courtesy banner was displayed at the half-time ceremony of the Roanoke Rapids football game. The Booster Club is featuring a Courtesy Theme in the football programs throughout the year. The Peanut Festival Parade will feature a float from each school showing the Courtesy Theme.

The Courtesy campaign of the Edenton - Chowan Schools is being sponsored by the Bank of North Carolina, Mitchener's Pharmacy, Parker-Evans Hardware, M.G. Brown Company, Edenton Office Supply, Coble Dairy, Hardees of Edenton, Quinn Furniture Company, and Pizza Hut of Edenton.

Symptoms Of Appendicitis

Appendicitis...you may know the name, but do you know the symptoms?

Appendicitis often begins as a stomach ache which may shift from the pit of the stomach to the lower right side. Typical symptoms are pain, tenderness, and spasm often in the right side of the abdomen, usually accompanied by a slight fever. Nausea and vomiting may also occur.

The North Carolina Medical Society says acute appendicitis must be treated immediately.

The appendix is a three or four-inch pouch located at the beginning of the large intestine. During an attack of appendicitis, this organ becomes so inflamed it can burst. To avoid the serious complications of a burst appendix, a medical diagnosis should be made as soon as possible. If you suspect that you or someone you are with has appendicitis, contact a physician immediately.
