

"Foods With Finesse", A Cooking School In Chowan County

Have you ever wanted to attend a cooking school but the location was just too far away? Well, here is your chance to attend one nearby. "Foods with Finesse," a cooking school, will be held in Chowan County on Monday, October 25, 1982, at John A. Holmes High School Auditorium. Eight participating home economists will prepare quick, tasty, economical and nutritious foods for meals and snacks, including seafood, wild game and breads.

Included in the program, in addition to the foods for meals and snacks, will be holiday decorating ideas on using greenery in the home. Slides will be utilized during the program to show the audience what is being done in each step. The course is 2 hours long and to save time, everything will be cooked in a microwave oven. Conventional times and temperatures will also be given. Small appliances will also be used.

To help cover expenses, the registration fee for adults is $2 and for students $1. Fran Ward, one of Chowan County's home economists, explained that this kind of program, with five counties participating, pools resources and gives residents an opportunity to participate in an educational experience similar to commercial cooking schools in metropolitan areas.

Rev. George Holmes Accepts New Position

Rev. George Blake Holmes, formerly of Edenton and currently of Asheboro, has accepted the position as new Rector of Calvary Episcopal Church in Wadesboro and priest-in-charge of All Souls Church in Ansonville it was announced this week.

Mr. Holmes is a native of Norfolk, Va., where he was a graduate of Maury High School and Norfolk Business College. He holds degrees from the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va., and Seabury-Western Theological Seminary. He has done graduate studies at Washington and Jefferson College and Northwestern University and earned a master's degree in child psychology with work at Duke University and the University of Virginia.

In World War II he served in the Pacific, Atlantic, and European theaters of war, first in the V-7 program in the U.S. Naval Reserve from which he was medically discharged after two years; then the U.S. Army Air Force for two and one-half years.

He was attached to the Royal Air Force for one and one-half years and voluntarily remained in Europe an additional year to fly prisoners and displaced persons to their countries.

Following his ordination, he served churches in Virginia and North Carolina, including 18 years as rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Edenton. In 1973, he left the parish ministry to accept a position as director of administrative services with Moore, Gardener and Associates in Asheboro, a position he has held until this year.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor: The Department of Social Services is again responsible for administering the Federal Low Income Energy Assistance Program in Chowan County. As we wrote to groups, organizations and energy related businesses last year we need the help of others to contact and serve eligible persons for the assistance. Because of the busy schedules that each of you have we felt that a letter would be sufficient to solicit your help in this matter rather than planning a local meeting. However, if anyone feels a planned meeting would be more important, we will appreciate hearing from you so that plans can be made. Applications for Energy Assistance will be accepted at the Department of Social Services office from November 1 through December 10, 1982. To be eligible the household must have heating bills, must verify that their income is at or below the 1980 non-farm poverty level, and have assets of a value $2200.00 or less. The amount of the payments will be based on household income and the type of heating fuel used. It is anticipated that all checks will be mailed in February 1983.

We especially want to contact persons vulnerable to the effects of the cold, the elderly, the ill and bedridden, the handicapped and young children. We will appreciate any assistance you can give in reaching the people that might be eligible for this assistance.

Sincerely,
Hazel S. Elliott
Director

Annual Halloween Party, October 30

The Rocky Hock Community will have its annual Halloween Party on Saturday, October 30th beginning at 4:00 at the Community Center.

There will be lots of fun for people of all ages.

The Country Store will open at 4:00 with all kinds of goodies, such as baked goods, canned goods, homemade candy, pies, cakes, and there will also be handmade crafts.

For supper you can have hotdogs, hamburgers, barbecue sandwiches, hot soup and drinks at the Chuck wagon.

Everyone will have fun in the Costume Parade at 6:00. There will be prizes for the prettiest, the ugliest and most original in four different age groups, birth to 6, 7 to 12, 13 to 19 and also age 20 to 110.

The "Ole Time Auction" will start at 7:30.

Some of the other events will be: spook house, fortune teller, hayride, train ride fishing pond, pie and cake walks, Bingo and many others.

The Rocky Hock Rebels Band will provide entertainment throughout the night.

Plan now to bring your family to an evening of fun, food, and just plain "ole country entertainment."
