Blind Trainees Being Sought

KINSTON — The Lions Industries for the Blind made steady progress on its contracts for gunswabs and wooden pallets during January, but more blind trainees are sought to meet the sheltered workshop load during the next quarter, Executive Director W. C. Boone told the Board of Directors in luncheon session here February 8. Chairman Marvin L. Nash presided.

Secretary Carey B. Washburn, who offered the invocation, reviewed the January minutes, which were approved. Treasurer Milton G. Williams reviewed the financial statement for the period. It showed a stronger position than it did on January 1. All bills are current. The report was approved and Director Boone was thanked for his diligence in bringing steady improvement to the agency's fiscal status and net worth.

Boone reported 26 persons now work at the shop. These include 15 blind persons, four visually handicapped, two non-blind persons and six trainee clients. There are 21 involved in production and four staff personnel. The N.C. Division of Services for the Blind is coordinating its efforts to locate and place more blind trainees at the workshop, which can now handle up to 20 clients, it was stated.

The workshop is in compliance with OSHA in all safety regulations. Boone is working to close the gap of four points in the required ratio of blind to sighted personnel to maintain eligibility on National Industries for the Blind contracts. He thanked Governor Richard Kerr of Lions District 31-H for gifts totaling some $2,100 from many of the 53 clubs in the 14-county district. This is part of the $2 member that Lions pledge yearly to support the non-profit workshop here, it was stated.

Boone announced plans for the fourth low vision clinic at the workshop Feb. 25, which will be conducted by Dr. Patrick Dennis of Kinston. It serves regional patients with severe vision defects.

Boone was authorized to set up a contingency reserve fund for replacement of machinery and to continue efforts to set up a five-year growth and development plan as requested by the N.C. Division of Services for the Blind. District Promotions Chairman Clyde Odom of Greenville reported visits to five area Lions Clubs and said he had written others in the district who want to see the workshop slide program in the future. The one-hour session which drew five directors from other communities across the district ended at 2 P.M. The next session will be held at the Western Family Steakhouse here on March 8 at 1 P.M., Boone stated.

Child Care Tax Deductible

GREENSBORO — Thanks to a recent change in the law, many working parents in North Carolina can now claim a tax credit of up to 30 per cent of qualifying expenses they pay for the care of their children while the parents are at work, the Internal Revenue Service says.

It's called "Child Care and Dependent Care Credit" and is subtracted directly from the income owed. Last year, more than 100,000 North Carolina families claimed the credit, saving more than $20-million in taxes, the IRS said.

This year that dollar figure will surely increase. The credit has been increased to a range of 20 to 30 per cent of the first $2,400 of qualifying child care expenses for one child and $4,800 of expenses for two or more children. The percentage is based on the family's adjusted gross income, since the rate of credit is reduced by one percentage point for each $2,000 of income above $10,000, until it reaches 20 per cent for incomes over $28,000.

To qualify for the credit, the taxpayer must have a paying job or be actively looking for work and must maintain a household for a dependent under age 15. For further information on the new provisions of the Child Care Credit, order the free IRS Publication, "Child and Disabled Dependent Care," on the toll-free line 1-800-241-3880 or on the order coupon in the tax forms package.

Forestry Map Published

A new National Forest visitor guide map has recently been printed by the National Forests in North Carolina. This map includes all four National Forests; from the Croatan on the coast, the Uwharrie in the Piedmont, to the Pisgah and Nantahala National Forests in the western mountains.

Incorporating all major highways and secondary roads for the areas around New Bern, Troy and Asheboro, Brevard, Marion, Hot Springs, Burnsville, Franklin, Highlands, Robinsville and Murphy where National Forests exist, this map locates and describes 76 significant recreation opportunities on the 1,200,000 acres of National Forest lands in North Carolina.

From the Tideland Trail at Cedar Point on the easternmost Croatan National Forest to the Joyce Kilmer Memorial Forest and Slickrock Wilderness Area on the Tennessee-North Carolina line in the west, this map includes campgrounds, picnic areas, trail, swimming and boating opportunities available. Historical and background information on other National Forest features, such as the Cradle of Forestry, is also included.

In handy pocket-size, this map is now available free at the National Forests in North Carolina headquarters at 50 South French Broad Avenue, P.O. Box 2750, Asheville, N.C. 28802. Copies may be ordered by mail.

Travel Bill Is Introduced

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Past experience with two privately-funded programs providing pre-appointment visits indicates that such visits are extremely effective and efficient with respect to acceptance and attrition. However, private source funding is insufficient to meet present needs. H.R. 1256 will remedy this situation by authorizing up to $20,000 per year for the first five fiscal years after enactment.

H.R. 1256 was co-sponsored by Congressman Gerry E. Studds (D-Mass.), Edwin Forsythe (R-N.J.), and Don Young (R-Alaska). "Talk not of wasted affection; affection never was wasted." Longfellow

Regional Library Meeting Held

Library staff from the public libraries and the school libraries in the four counties comprising Pettigrew Region, Chowan, Perquimans, Tyrrell, and Washington Counties, met for the first time on Wednesday, February 9. The meeting was held in Shepard Pruden Library, the Chowan County Public Library.

Elizabeth Laney, Director of the Pettigrew Regional Library, called the meeting to provide an opportunity for staff of all the libraries in the region to share problems and resources.

After a discussion of the developmental tasks and the needs of all children, the group identified needs of school age children in the four counties of Pettigrew Region. Ways in which those needs are being met were discussed. Ken Rollins, Media Consultant in Region 1 Educational Center, presented resources of the State Department of Public Instruction which are available to libraries.

After a naming of imminent needs of the libraries, methods of assisting each other were discussed.

The group decided to meet again on Wednesday, April 20. The following participants were selected to serve on a planning committee:

Mary C. Hardison, Tyrrell Elementary School; Evelyn Neptune, Pettigrew Regional Library; Gwendolyn Moye, Creswell High School; and Cathy Carter, Washington County Library.
