

NCDOT Urges Public To Return Driver Handbooks

The North Carolina Department of Transportation's (NCDOT's) Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) is reminding the public to return driver handbooks to their local license agencies.

The Division of Motor Vehicles provides new and veteran drivers with the state rules of driving through this handbook. The books are provided free to the public to assist anyone preparing for the driving examination.

According to R. W. Wilkins, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, "The supply of driver handbooks is being depleted from our agencies due to the public not returning these manuals."

The driver's handbooks are provided as a public service and are purchased with the taxpayer's money. The cost to DMV per handbook is 15 cents. This cost includes using only black and white pictures and print (no color) and using inexpensive paper stock.

Wilkins added, "This is an effort to maintain a lower cost to the public. But in order to keep this cost down, we feel that a cooperative effort is needed from the public. When people are finished with their handbook, they should bring it with them at the time of their exam, mail it back to a local agency or loan it to a friend who is preparing for the exam."

The driver's handbook is designed to meet the needs of the public by furnishing the proper information on North Carolina driving laws. Circulation of these handbooks is necessary to provide the general public with this information at the lowest possible cost, Wilkins noted.

March

The earth is gray, the bushes brown, The world looks dark and drear, It's March, the wintry, blustery month, With snow and ice we fear; But underneath this dormant soil, The plants are waiting to grow, The tiny seeds are ready to pop From out the melting snow.

The sunbeams smile, the raindrops call, "Come from your winter bed!" The south wind, with warm breezes, blows "Don't sleep, Wake up!" it says, Far down beneath the sleepy turf The yellow crocus sprouts. It hears the call of Nature and It's time to push on out.

Thus March we welcome when it comes, To usher in the spring The beauty of the bursting buds The birds that takes to wing, The joyous sounds of children, With kites flying high in the sky Attest to the change of seasons As March goes whistling by.

Still Meadow

By Sarah Harrell Trexler It is quiet here today in the early morning. There is a faded sun just over the tops of the pines. The thunder storm of yesterday spoke of spring. There were two crows stalking across the rise beyond our fence.

And I saw daffodils by the nandina bush.

Well - Paul came to the meadow for several days. He brought clippers, a saw and purchased a rake for me. The trees are trimmed and the grass has been raked.

I wait now for the time when the ground is ready for planting a garden. There one gets closer to God than any place on earth.

Betty was out there - carrying sticks and planning where a clostime would be best placed. A city girl coming home. Their hearts are longing for a quiet place away from busy streets, The clamour of the Towns, where There Is Peace and Meadows soft for Sleeping.

There are robins in the meadow and woodpeckers - red headed ones - on the pines. Crows are circling the rise. Hoping - I expect - that the owner will soon be planting corn.

I have heard it said that every traveller sees what belongs to him on a journey. There are two kinds of travellers. The ones who journey the world over and the one who travels from a rocker. I belong to the latter.

Everson Appointed Butch Everson of Edenton was appointed by Lieutenant Governor Jimmy Green to serve as a Page in the North Carolina Senate during the week of February 21-25, 1983. His parents are Mr. & Mrs. Albert Everson.

The duties of North Carolina Senate Pages includes working with the fifty Senators, and with the staff members of the General Assembly. Pages assist in the Senate Chamber during the Senate's daily Sessions. They are also assigned to the various Committee meetings during the day when the Senate is not in session.

It would be hard to improve on the sheer beauty of the view from my armchair. When it does - I'll tell. We were wondering who the owner - Mr. Francis - I am told - would plant on the rise. I wished for peanuts - Papa's favorite crop. My brother, a Preacher, said - "I like cataloupes better!" I had better buy a couple of seed and plant a hill of cataloupes - at Still Meadow.
