RALEIGH—The Board of Church and Society of the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church passed a resolution in its January meeting, calling for the current session of the General Assembly to secure eight additional chaplains for the N.C. Department of Corrections. The resolution requests that the General Assembly appropriate the necessary $160,000.00 for the addition of the eight chaplains.

According to the Reverend Bruce Pate, Chairman of the Board of Church and Society, such a bill regarding chaplains in the prison system will be introduced by Representative C. R. Edwards of Cumberland County during this session of the General Assembly. "To date there are 25 full-time chaplains within the system, serving over 17,000 inmates," said Pate. "This means that each chaplain serves the equivalent of a 700 member 'congregation' of persons, the vast majority of whom are spiritually weak and unaware of the love of God, as well as being in deep personal and family crisis," Pate explained.

According to Pate, at least 56 full-time chaplains are needed for effective ministry to persons in prisons. Because there are currently only 25 full-time chaplains, he points to the importance of volunteers from local congregations helping fill the gap.

First Presbyterian Church News

"Give us bread", is the cry of almost a billion people today in our own land as well as overseas. The Lord's Prayer has this very simple request. At Easter many churches receive a special offering to help alleviate the problem of hunger especially in the areas where wars are being fought, in refugee camps and famine stricken areas. The offering doesn't do all the job but it does do some of it. It does make possible another day so that the root causes of hunger may be worked at.

This Sunday at First Presbyterian Church, as part of the continuing study of the Lord's Prayer during the Lenten season the Pastor, Rev. H.E. Mallinson will be bringing the message, "Give us Bread", at the morning worship at 11 A.M. Welcome.

The year 1934 saw the production of an immensely strong synthetic fiber later patented under the name nylon. It was first used as bristles for toothbrushes.

Communication Within A Marriage

By Theresa T. Ford

Home Economics Extension Agent

You may find this hard to believe, but sometimes marriage can be very lonely. And this loneliness usually begins with an inability to communicate.

After all, if every comment brings a complaint, an argument, or a grunt, people will stop trying to talk to each other.

Now anger and irritation with a spouse are normal. But there are other ways of handling these feelings so they won't destroy communication. Maybe it's not always easy to do, but complaints and difficulties need to be discussed. And anger should be expressed frankly too.

There are some rules for quarreling. The main ones are to fight fairly and to stick to the main issues. This means you should avoid overstating conditions or exaggerating blame. It also means you should attack the issue and not the other person's character.

Also keep in mind that humor and anger are closely related - that the things that make you mad can also make you laugh. Try a dose of humor to soothe hard feelings.

Of course there are some family fighters who may need a referee. But this person should not be a neighbor or family member - instead he should be someone who is impartial and who will help keep problems confidential.

After all, it's not a defeat to seek outside help when a marriage has a rough sailing. Instead seeking help is an admission that the marriage is worth saving.

"FOR AN HONEST SECOND OPINION, ASK PERDUE'S FIRST GROWER."

"When Perdue started looking for broiler growers in North Carolina, they called on me. They liked the Bertie County area and knew that I was familiar with most of the folks here through my work with the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service. They wanted me to give them some leads on potential broiler growers. Perdue did a good job of convincing me it was a good investment, because I became the state's first grower!"

That was eight years ago, and since then, they've really put a lot of money into this area. It's helped our economy a lot, and it's helped many individuals make a profit each year out of their farming operations. With all the changes I've seen in the other crop programs, it's nice to see a company like Perdue providing a good steady income. You can count on Perdue year after year.

With tobacco, peanuts and corn, the expenses keep growing faster than the market prices, and that's cutting the net incomes of a lot of farmers. With a Perdue house as a supplemental income, you've got something that doesn't require a major investment every year. And once you've paid off the house, as I did three years ago, profits start looking even better.

If anyone has second thoughts about getting with a poultry company, they shouldn't worry about Perdue. The way they have expanded in Bertie, Hertford, Halifax and surrounding counties, there's no doubt in my mind Perdue will be here for a long time to come."

It's A Great Time to Grow with Perdue. Perdue is into one thing - chickens. That's why our poultry products outsell all the others in the northeastern supermarkets. The demand is increasing for our products, so we need more producers. Start growing with a growing company. Call 1-800-682-8729 or send in the coupon below, and talk chicken with a Perdue representative.

I'd like to talk chicken with Perdue.
