Student Council Report

By Pat Halsey

Deca students from John A. Holmes swept the competition held at East Carolina University on March 4. Winners were:

Angela Layden—Runner up trophy in General Merchandising and proficiency award; Sherlyne Jordan—District winner trophy & Occupational Exam trophy and proficiency award in Food Marketing; June Jordan—Occupational Exam trophy and proficiency award in Restaurant Marketing; Jon McClure—Promotion trophy and proficiency award in General Merchandising; Tammy Bachman—Proficiency award in Restaurant Marketing; Sharon Hollowell—Runner up trophy, Occupational Exam trophy, and proficiency award in Food Marketing; and Paul Stallings—Proficiency award in General Merchandising.

The students participating in the student-faculty basketball game on March 9 at the Holmes gymnasium trampled all over the teachers participating. Of course I am prejudiced as I am a student. In reality the scores for the two games were not that widely spread. The female students defeated the female faculty by a score of 13-17. And the male students defeated the male faculty by a score of 63-64.

In the first game of baseball season the Edenton Aces defeated Currituck 5-2.

HOSA students attended a district workshop at J.H. Rose High School in Greenville on March 16.

A special thanks to all the students who took time to enter the contests and also the local businesses who allowed these students to take off time from their jobs. Mrs. Faircloth also stated that if it weren't for the fine training these students have received from their employers, winning would be impossible.
