SBI Citizen's Watch Program Has Toll-Free Number

The State Bureau of Investigation now has a toll-free number for citizens to report suspicious activities of boats and aircrafts which could be involved in transporting illegal drugs.

Drug smuggling is a serious threat to all of us in North Carolina as well as in the nation. North Carolina's coastline has historically been a smuggler's paradise. Although we in law enforcement have redoubled our efforts to detect drug smuggling operations, we cannot cover every nook and cranny in our state without help of our citizens.

This citizen's watch program for drug smuggling is designed to help combat this deadly menace. That's why we set up these toll-free lines which will be operated around the clock, every day, by SBI agents.

All information will be kept confidential and citizens may remain anonymous if they choose. Those who hesitate to give information over the phone may leave word for a local SBI agent to contact them.

The SBI has begun distributing "information wanted" posters statewide to marinas, airports and various other public places. In addition to the toll-free telephone number, these posters list over twenty unusual conditions that may indicate illegal drug movements, either by boat or by aircraft.

These posters are being made available to concerned businesses who wish to help us make the public aware of this extremely serious problem.

Chowan Hospital Auxiliary To Meet
