Announces Candidacy
RALEIGH—John Ingram has announced that his campaign for governor will officially begin in September. "I will make my formal announcement as a candidate for governor this September," Ingram told a crowd of long-time supporters at the Wake County Shrine Club during a reception honoring his ten years as Insurance Commissioner.

"September is such a special month for me. It is the month when I married my wife Gini almost 29 years ago."

The reception, complete with piano music by Dale Van Horne and a birthday cake with sparkles for Ingram, who turns 54 this week, was attended by more than 700 people, according to Task Force Coordinator Mike Rogers, a Cary businessman (over 750 plates were served).

"During the coming months I will announce the formation of issue task forces concerning the issues facing North Carolina," Ingram added. "I have fought for the people of North Carolina for more than 12 years as a legislator and as Insurance Commissioner, and I will be a people's governor in 1984."

This reception served as a "snow check" for supporters who missed an earlier reception due to the freak snowstorm which hit North Carolina on March 24. "Snow must be good luck for us," said Mike Rogers of the Task Force. "We raised over $50,000 from ticket sales, which is more than John Ingram needed to win the U.S. Senate nomination in 1978 - which included a primary and a run-off primary (his opponent spent $1.7 million)." The Task Force's Raleigh Headquarters recently doubled its room space to allow for a photographic darkroom and computer system. Rogers added that ticket sales are still coming in.

Sec. Faircloth Resigns Commerce Post

D.M. (Lauch) Faircloth resigned June 16 as North Carolina's Secretary of Commerce.

Faircloth has held the cabinet post since 1977. He was appointed to the position by Gov. Jim Hunt.

At a press conference announcing his resignation, Gov. Hunt said, "Lauch's straight-talking style and business-like approach have been two of North Carolina's most important assets in competing for economic growth."

He added, since 1977, he has been my strong right arm in our effort to create good jobs for North Carolinians. He has traveled with me throughout the nation and the world in search of investment and jobs. His wise counsel and his leadership will be missed."

Faircloth said that while he was proud of the progress of economic progress in the past that "the best years are ahead for North Carolina."

He cited that the first three months were the best first quarter ever for industrial development and that there were some announcements coming in the next few weeks that would be among the best in quality and quantity.

In the six and half years Faircloth has been secretary, new and expanding industries have announced investments of more than $11.5-billion and 180,000 jobs.

Exports have reached $4.4-billion or more than double the 1977 total. And revenues at the state ports have grown from $7.2-million to nearly $15-million.

Tourist spending has risen to more than $3-billion for the first time.

Faircloth took the opportunity to thank the employees in the Commerce Department and in common activities in North Carolina for their assistance.

Of Gov. Hunt, Faircloth said, "No Governor of North Carolina has worked harder or dedicated more time and energy to serving this state than Jim Hunt. For so many reasons, history will record him as one of the greatest governors our state has ever had."

Boat Owners To Meet
There will be a meeting of boat owners and boating enthusiasts Thursday June 30th at 8 P.M. at the Edenton Town Office Council Room to discuss boating safety and to organize a volunteer group of boaters who can respond to emergency calls on the water. The Edenton-Chowan Rescue Squad will be the controlling unit.

All boaters are invited to attend even if they cannot be a part of a volunteer unit. There will be a display of safety and emergency equipment for your inspection and representatives of N.C. Wildlife Dept. and the U.S. Coast Guard will be present to explain their functions and to exchange ideas. This is a great opportunity for all boat people and you are urged to attend.

The oldest living things are brachiopods, pine trees, which scientists believe may have started growing from 400 to 5,000 years ago.
