LATE PRESIDENT APPEALS TO PRESS AGAINST WARS

Letter Made Public Written to Newspaper Man—Harding Planned to Give Information

A prominent newspaper publisher and explorer, Walter Wellman, of New York, has recently made public the text of a letter and the substance of a conference between himself and the late President Harding regarding the world's peace and a plan to eliminate war. The letter, though addressed to Mr. Wellman personally, was meant for the entire press of the country and President Harding had planned to make known his plan, had he lived, "even though it costs me another term in the White House," to us, the words of the late chief executive.

The text of the letter, as given out by Mr. Wellman, follows:

"I am informed that some of you are considering a plan to buy the press of the great American newspapers to assist in the opinions of the people upon the problem of America's duty in world reorganization for the abolition of war, the reign of international law, with 'telescope' instead of battlefields as a means of last resort, and the creation of a system of international co-operation, without superior government enforcement upon the independence of any nation, declared permanently to preserve peace, neighborhood relationships, economic stability and prosperity among all the peoples of the world.

"That this plan to assist American opinion to be participated in, by newspapers of all sections of the country, without regard to political affiliations, and that no partisan currents of any sort be to be permitted, that the various vital phases of the plan are to be carefully and impartially presented to you, as well as to furnish their judgment, appeal, strongly to me.

"I have long since become convinced that the United States should not and will not leave the unorganized League of Nations, but that something better, approved by the people, there may be found a way to world association and stability would be formulated.

Problem For U. S. "With this plan to set the American people to thinking more strongly and clearly and expressing their conclusions concerning the international duty of our republic, I am in full sympathy. It is an admirable, useful work and I hope you care. It is all readers of the land.

"In my opinion this is a problem which the United States must soon meet with earnestness and courage, and that it will be of great help to the Government, when it proceeds toward a practical solution of the problem, to have a definite formation of public opinion to rely upon.

I further believe that in this great task of helping to make the world safe for humanity no political party should seek selfish advantage, that they should apply our old and most wholesome tradition at the side of the high sons.

"Hence I shall be glad if the American press, ignoring partyship, uses its great power to draw forth the best thought, the best soul of our people. In such a crystallization will be read the decision of the republic."

NEW FORD CAR HAS GRACEFUL BODY LINES

Several New Features Added to Both The Closed and Open Models

TRENTON, Mich., Aug. 25.—Introduction of a higher radiator, bracing new and improved body lines to the type of Ford Cars, is announced today by the Ford Motor Company.

The change has just gone into effect and the various types are now in production.

While the larger radiator has been made standard on all types and while it has made possible other improvements in body design, there is no radical departure in construction, but rather a general improvement which has resulted in more graceful lines.

The new radiator sets an inch and a half higher than the former and has an extra at the bottom which forms a shield against the front of the car. The new radiator also increases cooling efficiency.

Such modifications with the new type is the Ford Coupe which is of entirely new body design and construction, resulting in a more trim exterior appearance, more comfortable seating arrangement and a great increase carrying capacity.

The radiator tank is under the seat with divided cushions so afford easy filling of the tank from the right side, making it unnecessary for the driver to leave his seat. Ventilator in 15 second and a view over the dashboard add much to the attractiveness of the car. A new rear door of more sturdy character also is a feature.

Marked too, is the improvement in the body lines, giving a more regular shape to the car, a more graceful line of more sturdy character also is a feature.

In the same type, the Touring Car and Roadster, the road has been enlarged.

larged and flows in graceful curve to the higher hood. The result brings a most pleasing effect to the exterior appearance of both types. The improvement in the Touring Car which came when the one man top and slanting windshield were introduced, is greatly enhanced by the larger radiator, the car appearing lower and more attractive than ever. The effect by the Roadster is likewise most appealing, giving it a more rugged and sturdy appearance. No change in price is contemplated.
