Safety is not a one-man job! Despite the precautions that the railroads have employed to safeguard the public against accident, and death, tirra warning signals, watchmen, crossing gates, etc., preventable disasters continue to occur.

men, crossing gates, etc., preventable disasters continue to occurbe your part is the great safety campaign being conducted by this and other. American railreads. Let the trains have the right of way; the tracks were made for them and they cannot change their course to prevent an accident. Wait until the train steps before you attempt to get on or off. Do not use railroad tracks as a passageway or a loitering place. They are dangerous only to treepassers. Help us save life and protect against accident.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad spends rearly a million deliars a year for the single purpose of maintaining constant supervision over the condition of its tracks—850 track walkers are employed and every day they walk every mile of the main tracks of the road, inspecting rails, treates, bridges, etc. When you are on the train, every precaution is taken for your safety. Do as much to protect yourself when off the trains. Common sence—Caution—Coperation—cuil pay big distictions.
