orderly surroundings also aid in developing and maintaining self respect.

2. Natural dangers from diseases are less in clean and orderly places.

For our physical protection a clean community is necessary.

4. The appearance of well-kept houses, yards and streets add to the pleasures of home and community life. Physical cleanliness invites clean thinking and clean conduct, which is pleasing to ourselves, our neighbors and our visitors.

The clean up campaign is an effective movement toward gaining these benefits and should have the whole hearted co-operation of every one of us.

T. L. Sasser

Editor Scout:

Clean Up and Paint Up Days have been tried in Murphy and have been found effective to a greater or less degree, and I believe a real live Clean Up and Paint Up campaign would help greatly in making our city one of the cleanest in the United States.

Such a campaign will accomplish: Safer homes and business houses; sanitary homes and buildings; a better looking community; a spirit of greater self-respect, and higher civic standards.

I want to give my endorsement to the comprehensive plan to make the Clean Up and Paint Up campaign one of the biggest municipal events of the year.

D. H. Rhinehart.

PRESBYTERIAN REVIVAL SERVICES BEGIN SUNDAY

The series of evangelistic services will begin Sunday morning at the Presbyterian Church, in accordance with the announcement by the pastor, Mr. E. G. Clary some time ago. Rev. F. Rauschenberg, superintendent of Mission of the Asheville Presbytery of Biltmore, has been secured to do the preaching, which will be conducted twice daily at 10:00 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. through June 14th.

Rev. Rauschenberg is quite an entertaining speaker. He delivered the annual commencement sermon here last Sunday morning and made quite a favorable impression upon his hearers. He is a graduate of Columbia Theological Seminary, and has a number of years of practical business experience, besides having a number of years experience to his credit as a professor of philosophy. He is now evangelist and superintendent of home missions of the Asheville presbytery, with headquarters at Biltmore.

The local Presbyterians are looking forward to a great meeting, and it is expected that other churches of the town and many people from the country round about will avail themselves the opportunity of hearing Mr. Rauschenberg and enjoying the spiritual feast that is promised.

DO YOU MIND IF I'M SKINNY?

By Dr. B. S. Harben. A Southern boy was left in charge of friends for a three weeks' rest in the Adirondack Camp. On the first evening, the hostess took the little chap upstairs to bed and, that he might not feel lonely, supervised the preparations. Suddenly in the midst of undressing, the seven-year-old exclaimed, "Mistis, you do not mind if I am skinny do you?" The puzzled hostess fumbled, "You can't help it, Jackums, and we shall soon make you fat." "I don't mean that. Do you mind if I'm skinny? Do you mind if I don't have anything on?"

But the thing we did mind was his "skininess." He had had pneumonia and the flesh and strength were slow in coming back. We were anxious about the child. How alarming is such low resistance to all infections, especially to tuberculosis, which are all around us and—no matter what care we attempt to guard our children—so menacing to them.

The Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor and a prominent life insurance company have made a study of conditions among the children of New York City and it is estimated that one child out of every three is undernourished. This situation is duplicated everywhere. These little, toothless bodies are being constantly bombarded by bacteria of all varieties and being menaced by diseases which are serious. The child who is of normal weight and who is healthy in other ways as well, has a chance to fight off these enemies. The youngster who is handicapped by undernourishment and all that it implies is the one who generally fights a losing battle.

How many parents think of these things? How many parents could answer "Yes I care!" to that question: "Do you mind if I'm skinny?"

How about the boys and girls under your care? Do you look at the matter at all? Do you ever think of the meaning of the children's diseases? Do you know that measles and scarlet fever and colds are more severe and more dangerous to children who are undernourished than they are to the plump, rosy-cheeked and bright-eyed child? Do you realize that the foundation of happiness and health in the adult years is being built in childhood—right NOW?

Those who truly care will consult the physician, learn the underlying causes of the child's poor health, his malnutrition, and take the imperative steps necessary to correct the condition. Those who do not care will "do the best they can" without doing anything.

Are children looking at you with pleading eyes? "I'm skinny! Do you mind?"

Commencement week was marked by one of the most elaborate programs ever rendered in the local school. Commencement proper began Thursday evening, May 21 with the rendition by the primary department. Friday evening the seventh annual commencement sermon. Monday evening the Soiree Musicale was rendered by the music department with Miss Ida Moody Johnson, director.

Most of the teachers left the latter part of the week for their homes.

WHOLE BODY SEEMED IN ONE AWFUL PAIN

Morse, La.—Mrs. L. P. Lambert, who has been a popular school-teacher here for several years, recently told a visitor of her interesting experiences with Cardui.

"Just before my . . . came on," said Mrs. Lambert, "I would ache all over. My feet, my toes, my arms, hands, head—my whole body seemed to be in one awful pain. I would grow so nervous that I could not hold a cup in my hand. My husband would have to hold my coffee for me to drink. Last fall I was in such a bad condition that I had to spend about three days in bed every month. It seemed to me that I was on my last go-round."

Then one day, said Mrs. Lambert, she happened to read about Cardui and the experiences of some women who had been helped by it. "I felt that Cardui might help me if I tried it," she continued, "for I had been suffering with similar troubles to those mentioned there. I had heard of Cardui all my life and I knew many women who said they had been helped by it. The very next day I began to take it.

"Very soon after, I began to notice my improvement. I kept on till I felt like a different woman. I gained in weight from 98 pounds to 115 and felt better than I had in years. I took six bottles right along and found it a splendid tonic. My suffering was partly due to a run-down condition and the Cardui stimulated my appetite and helped me to gain the strength I needed. . . . I take a bottle every now and then, even now, just as a tonic to keep up my strength, but I am in better health than I have been in for years."

All druggists sell Cardui. Try it.
