IN MEMORY OF J. M. McNABB

When news came that our brother J. M. McNabb had been called to his heavenly home every one who had known him was saddened and those who loved him best were those most grieved.

Dear brother, our home and hearts have been made so sad by your going but your memory is as bright as the light of noonday sun.

Heaven holds a richer treasure for us than was there before you left us. With your casket buried beneath a bank of flowers, but none of the flowers with which loving hands have strewn your last repose are sweeter than the memory which shall linger as long as human hearts can love.

To fade away only when we come in the presence of your perfected life beyond the grave. Oh, how we miss the voice that is still, but when the summons came for us, to meet you where darkness is unknown, the sun never sets, and sorrow never comes and all is bliss.

All that medical skill, loving hearts and willing hands could do, was done for him, but some sunny spot in the bright field of Heaven needed the presence of an added flower, and God sent his starry angel, one amidst his shining band, and so he bent with loving smiles, and clasped dear brother's hand.

We can scarcely realize why God should take one who was so radiant with life, and overflowing with the gladness of the Lord. But we know that he doeth all things well and while we bow in humble submission to his will, even tho it has left us in tears and our hearts are burdened with grief, yet we can rest with the assurance that brother's good will and work will always live after him, for he was a true Christian, and lived as it becometh a child of God.

Brother's Christian character was manifested by his loving kindness to every one with whom he came in contact, and was an inspiration to all who knew him. It seems so hard to give up our loved one—but God says, "lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. That, whosoever believeth in me shall not perish but have everlasting life."

I would say to dear old father and mother, weep not as one having no hope, but look to God the one that doeth all things well for those who love and serve Him. It will only be a short space of time until the same God will come for you. So weep not for him who has just gone from us never more to return but be prepared to meet him in that Heavenly home where parting and sorrow is no more.

He had been a faithful member of old Friendship Baptist Church since early youth.

In Friendship cemetery where the flowers are all in bloom lies dear brother Milton asleep within the tomb. Today he stands inside the pearly gates with beaming hands softly whispering loved ones come.

We extend to the bereaved our deepest sympathy.

We loved him, yes we loved him But Jesus loved him more.

And He has shortly called him, To yonder shining shore.

In the graveyard softly sleeping, Where the flowers gently wave; Lies our own dear Brother In his silent lonely grave.

You shall never be forgotten, ever from our memory fade Loving hearts will always linger Round the grave where you are laid

Peaceful be your sleep dear Brother, It is sweet to breathe your name; In life we loved you dearly In death we do the same.

Thou art gone our precious brother, Never more we'll see your face, But we'll meet you over yonder, In that happy resting place.

Lord, give us strength our loss to bear And lead us in the Heavenly way; Oh! may we meet dear Milton there, In realms of everlasting day. —Written by his sister, Mrs. J. J. Kessler, Trion, Ga.
