

"Branding" Babies Ends Mix-Ups

SCIENCE, through the ultra violet ray, has discovered a means of safeguarding the identity of new-born babies and it was tried for the first time when the initials of two baby girls were "burned" by means of the ray upon their thighs immediately after their birth. The experiment was performed at the State Road hospital in Brooklyn, where the initials also were placed on the arms of the babies' mothers to make doubly certain that there would be no mix-up in the identity of the babies.

The rays of a large violet ray machine are directed upon a tin disk in which have been cut the proper initials, which is placed against the baby's thigh. It requires four minutes to bring out the identification marks, which remain for ten days.

HOT WEATHER EATING

During the hot sultry days of mid-summer and early autumn the less of heat-producing foods we eat, the cooler and more serene we will be, both physically and mentally. Calories produce heat and energy. We need some to keep us pepped up for the ordinary activities, but it is safe to cut down on the heat-producing foods. Vitamins we need, and so we should eat freely of fruits and green vegetables, serve cooling drinks and keep the body as tranquil as possible.

Children who don't like milk will often take it in the form of malted milk chocolate, if straws are used. The combination of straws and foam on the top of a glass seems to be irresistible to the youth as well as those older.

A fresh tasty sandwich with a cool drink of fruit juice or milk in various forms is a lunch which will sustain and soothe the tired and heated body on a hot day. The lazy summer appetites can frequently be stirred to action by the sight of an ice-cold dessert.

Boiled Chocolate Dessert.

Scald one pint of milk with four tablespoonfuls of sugar and one-tenth spoonful of cornstarch, and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Cook twenty minutes over hot water. Add one-half ounce of bitter chocolate, melted, two beaten egg yolks, cook until the mixture coats the spoon. Chill, strain and add flavoring of one-half teaspoonful of vanilla or a pinch of cinnamon. Set in a cold place to chill and serve with whipped cream.

Macaroon and Chocolate Pudding.

Dissolve one tablespoonful of gelatin in two tablespoonfuls of cold water and stir until dissolved in one-fourth cupful of boiling water. When cold add to one pint of cream whipped. Divide the mixture into two parts and in one-half stir in one-fourth pound of sweet chocolate grated and in the other half six macaroons, broken in bits. Put into a dish in layers and set in the refrigerator for several hours to chill and harden.

Fresh Cabbage Salad.

Shred a tender juicy cabbage and mix with it one finely shredded green pepper, one chopped onion, a carrot or two finely shredded, and add plenty

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

FLATHORN'S TROUBLES

"Do I understand you to say that Flathorns, the Moose, is having troubles?" asked Buster Bear of Honker the Goose, who had just come down from the Great Woods of the North to the pond of Paddy the Beaver in the Green Forest.

Honker nodded. "I see your ears are just as good as ever they were," said he. "That is what I said. Flathorns is having troubles a-plenty. At least he was when I left on my way here. It seems queer that such a big fellow as he should have anything to worry about, but when I last saw him he was so worried that he was thinking of leaving all his favorite places because he didn't feel that they were safe any longer."

"Why not?" demanded Peter Rabbit, his eyes round with curiosity and his long ears standing straight up with interest. "Is he afraid of traps?"

Buster Bear, Honker the Beaver, Prickly Porky, and Jumper the Hare laughed right out. "What do you think Flathorns is like?" asked Honker.

"I haven't the least idea," replied Peter quite frankly. "You said he is big, but so is Buster, and he is afraid of traps. I don't see anything to laugh at."

"There isn't," replied Buster wistfully. "I just struck us as funny to think of anyone setting traps for old Flathorns, but as you've never seen him, of course you wouldn't understand. He's bigger than me. He's the biggest of all the people who live in the Great Woods."

Peter's eyes opened wider than ever. "Are you afraid of him?" he asked innocently, staring very hard at Buster, for he couldn't imagine Buster being afraid of anyone excepting a hunter with a terrible gun.

"Well," replied Buster, slowly, with a funny look on his face. "I—I—that is, Flathorns and I never have quarreled."

Prickly Porky chuckled. "Come Buster," said he, "own up that you always have kept out of the way of old Flathorns. You know perfectly well that he isn't afraid of you, and that you wouldn't face those big horns of his and those sharp-edged hoofs of his for anything in the world."

"Flathorns and I never interfere with each other," replied Buster with a great deal of dignity.

Peter had listened to all this with a puzzled look on his face. "But this isn't telling me what Flathorns is

The Old Gardener Says:

Rock gardeners searching for choice plants should not overlook the lilies, for there are several low-growing kinds that are perfectly at home in such gardens. One of the best is the Siberian coral lily, which rarely exceeds a height of two feet and has lovely deep-scarlet, although very small flowers. Groups of the Elegans Lily, particularly the Dwarf variety, Prince of Orange, are excellent in the rock garden, and Lilium concolor is so hardy that it will thrive in Canada. These lilies should be planted the coming autumn.
