Bob Reynolds To Speak Here Tonight

300 WOMEN ENDORSE BOB IN BUNCOMBE

Motorcade Accompanied By Band
Will Arrive Here Tonight
For Final Address

Robert R. Reynolds, leader in the first senatorial primary with Senator Cameron Morrison and three others, will end his campaign at Murphy here tonight with an address at 7:30 in the Cherokee county court house. Mr. Reynolds will be accompanied to Murphy by a brass band, and a motorcade of about 25 cars, and the band will give a concert in the public square before the speaking.

Mr. Reynolds' itinerary for today includes a trip from Asheville, with short addresses at Canton, Clyde, Waynesville, Franklin, Bryson City, Andrews, with his closing speech of the campaign at Murphy.

Among outstanding developments in the campaign during the last few days was the endorsement by more than 300 women of Buncombe county of the Asheville candidate for the United States Senate. The resolution, signed by the women, and carried in the Asheville Citizen, follows:

"All sorts of innuendos attacking the character of Hon. Robert R. Reynolds have been circulated throughout the state by his enemies during the present campaign, and it has been openly and falsely charged that none of the good women of his home county are supporting his candidacy for the United States Senate.

The following women, all residents of Buncombe county and his neighbors, resent these charges as false and unfair, and cheerfully and publicly testify that they are supporting Buncombe county's favored son, the Hon. Robert R. Reynolds, in this campaign, and are doing all they honorably can to bring about his election and urge their fellow-women of the state to join them in their efforts."

In an announcement from state headquarters from Raleigh, Mr. Reynolds said that attempts to connect his campaign with that of other candidates for other offices "will not fool the Democratic voters of this state."

"The people know I am running under my own steam," he declared, "and it is absurd for the Morrison henchmen to believe they can make the people think I would hazard my own chances in this great fight just for the purpose of aiding some other candidate for another office."

Reynolds said he had strong support in the camps of both candidates for governor and "it would be utterly ridiculous for me to take sides in that race."

"The Morrison men," he said, "are in such desperate straits to stop the vast tidal wave of support which has turned to me in this second primary that they are grasping every straw they see, no matter how absurd it appears."

Eringhaus Here Last Saturday
J. C. B. Ehringhaus, leading candidate for the nomination for governor in the first primary, was in Murphy last Friday afternoon and made a short address to a gathering of voters in the court house.

Zeb V. Nettles and Plato D. Ebbs, of Asheville, spoke at the court house here Wednesday afternoon in the interest of Lieutenant Governor R. T. Fountain, who was runner-up in the first primary as a candidate for governor.

John D. Norton, one of the losers in the first primary for Commissioner of Labor, was here last week in the interest of A. L. Fletcher, leading candidate for this office in the first primary, Mr. Norton having endorsed Fletcher for the position in the second primary.

Talking With Dirigible Over a Beam of Light

John Bellamy Taylor (right), consulting engineer of General Electric's research laboratory, talking into the apparatus he developed for sending human speech on a beam of light. A program "narrowcasted" from the navy dirigible Los Angeles from 2,500 feet in the air was picked up at a ground station, as at the left, and rebroadcast over a nation-wide chain of stations. The light beam was picked up by a large concave mirror mounted on the tripod where a small "electric eye" converted the light waves into electrical impulses which were in turn converted into sound by the same means as used in an ordinary radio receiver.

Dr. K. E. Bennett, of Bryson City, was here Saturday in the interest of his run-off with R. A. Patton, of Franklin, leader in the first primary for state senator from this district.

R. A. Dewar, of Andrews, was also here this week in the interest of his campaign for the Republican nomination for representative from this county against S. A. Voyles, runner-up in the first primary.

The Campaign between Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Morrison for the nomination of United States Senator from North Carolina is attracting nationwide attention from the fact that Morrison is a dry, and Reynolds is a wet. The campaign takes on more significance since the Democratic National Convention, meeting this week at Chicago, has gone on record as favoring the repeal of the 18th Amendment, and immediate modification of the Volstead law.

Salvation Army Representative Visits Murphy

Ensign P. I. Mull, of the Salvation Army, was in Murphy this week in the interest of this organization. Mr. Mull stated that Cherokee County was reserved for the work of the Salvation Army, and is only worked from Charlotte, State Headquarters of the Army. The Salvation Army is the only organization doing work in the State, and Mr. Mull asked that those who make the rounds seeking donations for the people to please be sure that they have the uniform of the Salvation Army when they are seeking donations in the name of the Army. The Salvation is the only uniform organization with an organized work within the State, he said.

Miss Leverette and Mr. Cope Wed At Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Jane Leverette and Mr. Charles Lucius Cope of Sylva and Asheville, N. C. was quietly solemnized at ten o'clock on June 19. The bride's father Rev. Z. M. Leverette, performed the ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate family and a few close friends. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Emogene Curl of Swainboro sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," with Miss Teresa Reddick at the piano. The bride and groom entered together to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. During the ceremony Miss Reddick played "I Love You Truly."

Miss Leverette is the only child of her parents. She has endeared herself to a wide circle of friends in Georgia and North Carolina by her gracious manner and charming personality. She received her education at the Georgia State College for Women and Bessie Tift College, from which she was graduated. She was prominent in student and club activities, while in college. For the past two years she has taught English and Latin at Sylva College Institute, Sylva, North Carolina.

Mr. Cope is the son of Mr. G. H. Cope of Sylva. He is a graduate of Mars Hill College and of Wake-Forest College, being a member of the Kappa Phi Kappa National Educational fraternity. After his graduation he taught for several years in Asheville and Buncombe county. During the past year he was principal of Sylva Collegiate Institute, Sylva, North Carolina.

The young couple left for a short motor trip, after which they will be at home in Sylva. —Sylvania (Ga.) Telephone.
