

DEMONSTRATION AGENT SUGGESTS WAYS OF BEAUTIFYING HOMES HERE

By Pauline Leatz Home Demonstration Agent The home is where the foundation of a child's future is determined.

In most cases the little attention given home beautification is often the household and often times this is very little where there are several children to care for.

North Carolina having hundreds of different kinds of trees, numerous native shrubbery, flowers, vines and stone, one does not even have to go outside his state or even better his county to obtain any of these things.

Trees, such as Cherokee County has a great variety of, will go far, if properly arranged, toward adding to the attractiveness of the farmstead as well as providing shade during the venting gullies which are so common summer.

Shrubbery, flowers and vines can easily be used to an advantage. The boxwood, one of the most beautiful shrubs, requires but very little attention and will give handsome returns in beautifying the place.

There is an abundance of rocks which are in the fields and are in the way of the plow that could be removed from the field and placed around the yard as a stone wall.

Asheville Presbytery To Meet In Murphy

The Presbytery of Asheville, comprising all churches west of Black Mountain, will hold its 80th Semi-Annual session in the Murphy Presbyterian Church on Tuesday, April 21st.

Upon convening, the Presbytery will hear the sermon by the retiring moderator, Rev. R. D. Bedinger, who is well known in this section as the Superintendent of the Presbytery's Home Missions.

At 11:00 o'clock the Presbyterian sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Kenneth J. Foreman, professor of Bible at Davidson College.

to build fountains, fish pools, or bird bath, (and birds, you know, should always be made welcome around the farm).

WPA FOREMEN ARE TAUGHT FIRST AID AT MURPHY SCHOOL

A group of twenty-two men and four women, WPA Foremen of Cherokee county, are taking First Aid Instructions under the direction of Mr. Paul Lovingood.

The purpose of the class is to train the foremen and supervisors to render immediate, temporary treatment in case of accident or sudden illness before the services of a physician can be secured.

Saturday, April 11, the class studied the use and need of first aid dressing and bandages, and anatomy and physiology of the human body.

Originally slated for Bryson City, the monthly Group School for Reserve Officers of Southwestern North Carolina has been shifted to Andrews instead, and the army men will gather at the Junaluska Terrace Hotel next Monday, April 20, at 8 o'clock P. M. Eastern Standard Time.

The meeting in Andrews is part of an experiment, in the course of which gatherings will be held in a number of towns in Western North Carolina, to determine at which one the largest reserve group can be assembled.

Major John H. Fye, U. S. Field Artillery, will address the meeting next Monday night, his subject being "The Infantry-Artillery Team in the Offensive."

Hembree Home Burned To Ground On Monday

The home of Frank Hembree, Murphy filling station employee, was burned to the ground by fire Monday just before noon.

The blaze is said to have begun in the flue of the house, and all furniture was removed before it was damaged.

The house was situated on a high hill in the Factorytown section and wind had whipped the flames beyond control before the fire truck could get there.

There was no plug to hook the hose to, but the engine pumps were ready to fight any flames that caught on the house of Richard Martin which was 40 yards distant.

Mr. Hembree moved his family and furniture into another house nearby Monday afternoon.

WARM WEATHER DRAWS CROWDS TO BIG REVIVAL

Balmy weather has brought crowds to the Union Revival Services being conducted by the Rev. W. H. Graham at the Fair Grounds this week.

Singing is a feature of the meetings, and many converts have been made through the eloquent preaching of the Rev. W. R. England, newly appointed minister to the Murphy Methodist Circuit.

The overhead expense of the meeting has been met by generous contributions from the business men of Murphy.

CORRECTING A MISTAKEN IDEA It seems that some of our friends have been under the mistaken impression that we carry only a medium grade of caskets. That is entirely wrong. We have moderate priced—even cheap caskets, true enough—but we also have as fine and complete a line as any undertaker in this section. Also steel vaults, robes, dresses, suits, and casket supplies of all kinds, to fit the humblest—or the most elaborate services. And our better grade caskets are made by the largest, most reputable concern in the country. Our embalmer is a fine Christian Gentleman of the highest type; kindly, sympathetic, understanding—and thoroughly experienced. We can't recommend him too highly. When you know him you will love him.
