WOLF CREEK

Jack Frost visited our section Saturday morning with a vengeance that killed most of the growing vegetation. This was the first frost of the season except two traces before.

Mr. Harley Crofts ran off the road near J. C. Cooks home Friday noon and received a broken leg as a result. The car he was driving turned over but was not damaged. Mr. George Ledford carried Mr. Crofts to the Petrie Hospital in Murphy, and Dickey-Anderson Auto Co., of Copperhill, took charge of the car.

But few candidates made personal visits to our section. It seems that they take our people to have already made up their minds.

Mr. J. F. Caylor of Hot House, Ga., passed through our section several times last week visiting his son, Otis, in the Kimsey-Gunn hospital at Ducktown. He was operated on about a week ago for appendicitis and was getting along very well, last report.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Hyatt and children visited Mr. Hyatt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hyatt, Sunday.

Many enjoyed the Halloween pro-

NEWS PICK-UPS

No doubt you've all seen that picture titled, "The Doctor".

Perhaps you don't recognize the name, but the famous picture is a portrait of a country doctor representing the era about, the turn of the century. The picture is very sad in tone. The doctor sits rubbing his beard quizzically while a little girl appears to be near death. In the background are the mother and father in dread fear of the child's fortune.

It's a very touching scene and we failed to recognize the artist who painted it, but one thing we do know. Whoever he was, he certainly had Dr. N. B. Adams in mind when he let his soul guide his brush in turning out the masterpiece. That is, as soon as Doc gets a couple more weeks on that new beard of his.

And aside from that there is probably no veteran of the medical profession who has had more heart-aching experiences, such as the one shown in the picture, than Dr. N. B. has. Certainly no one could be more sympathetic in ministering aid to the suffering.

Marion Simonds was very much in demand at the court house Monday morning. But he couldn't be found.

Here was a reporter and a half dozen others tearing up and down the halls, coat tails in the wind, asking "Where's Marion. Where's Marion."

Finally the sheriff's door was spotted being shaken violently. And out burst Marion.

"Just locked myself up in there and couldn't get out", he said, straightening his hat. "That's all. No harm done, boys."

And then coming out of the building at the Public School house Friday evening.

Mr. Will Burgess and son, Henry, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbt Garren and baby, Louis, attended the funeral of Mr. Tom Arp, near Sweet Gum, Ga., Saturday.

ing we saw John Donley hurrying in and wondered if he isn't fast becoming one of the spiffiest dressers in town. You know, blue shirt with white-striped tie and so forth.

But you couldn't have spelled "legionaries" right off the hat if we hadn't shown you how.

Up at Tomotla the other day we saw a woman milking a cow standing up in a bucket. Or rather she was standing up milking a cow in a bucket. Of course the cow couldn't have been in the bucket, but what we're trying to say is the young lady was standing up. A bucket was under the cow and she was milking away blue blazes.

Amused at seeing a woman standing up milking a cow we walked over and found out she was very, very pretty indeed.

"Good morning, Miss", we said in our most mannerly tones. "Are you milking the cow in that pretty blue dress?"

"Naw, ya dern dood", she retorted so hotly our face is still red. "Ah'm a-milkin' it in the bucket."

Yes, our face is still red as we

Cherokee And Clay Girls At W. C. U. N. C.

Greensboro, Nov. 5.—Nine of the 1,790 students enrolled at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina for the fall semester are from Cherokee and Clay counties. Of the 100 counties of the State, 97 have representatives in the student body, which is the largest in recent years. Last year's registration was 1,563, and the figure for the previous year was 1,382. Dr. W. C. Jackson is dean of administration of the Woman's College.

Cherokee and Clay County girls in the student body at the college this fall are: Misses Grace Wills Beil, Marial Lahn, Mary King Mallonee, and Mary Norvell Witherpoon, of Murphy; Sarah Jarrett, Vivian Moore, and Alysie Watkins, of Andrews; and Pauline Penland, and Winona Waldroup, of Hayesville.

"I feel cheered up at mealtime and after..."

says TONY MANERO, 1936 OPEN GOLF CHAMP. "When I enjoy Camels," Tony adds, "I have a feeling of ease afterward."

NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN, Douglas Dupont (above), reports: "Camels are a big aid to my digestion. I smoke Camels at meals and after eating."
